PICKING HOOVER CABINET KEEPS GUESSERS BUSY

Secrecy Still Veils All Selections.

BY ARTHUR BEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Guessing on the makeup of the Hoover cabinet has reached a hectic stage. Such uncertainty regarding the selections of the President Elect for his official family has not existed since 1913, when Woodrow Wilson kept everybody in the dark until he sent his cabinet nominations to the senate shortly after noon of March 4. So little was known of the Wilson cabinet that several of its members attended the inauguration ceremonies without attracting attention. Entering the senate for the preliminary ceremony, David P. Houston, selected for secretary of agriculture, was accosted by an acquaintance with the inquiry: "Well, what brings you to Washington?" The friend didn't and out till he read the cabinet list in the papers three hours later.

Vouchsafes No Information.

Mr. Hoover has not vouchsafed any information on his selections for cabinet places. It is not doubted that Andrew W. Mellon is to continue as secretary of the treasury, but there is no authority for the assumption that only confirmation of the general belief has been gleaned from a chance remark Secretary Mellon made in an unguarded moment a few weeks ago, when he was still uncertain that there would be an extra session of congress. "Well, if there should be an extra session this spring," Mr. Mellon said, "I will keep me out of my trip to Europe."

Stimson's Job is Debated.

It has been accepted as a fact during the last week that Gov. Gen. Henry L. Stimson of the Philippines is to be Mr. Hoover's secretary of state. He is coming home, he said, to take a position, the nature of which would leave to Mr. Hoover to fill. The next day, Manuel Queson, president of the Philippine senate, was quoted to the effect that Mr. Stimson had said he was going to be the secretary of state.

On the other hand a close friend of Mr. Hoover, returning from Miami yesterday, said that in his opinion, Mr. Stimson has not been selected for secretary of state.

Donovan's Fate Uncertain.

The fate of Col. William J. Donovan, assistant to the attorney general, is still uncertain. He was one of the prime movers for the nomination of Mr. Hoover and a powerful assistant in the election campaign. That he will be rewarded with high office is not doubted, but whether it will be the post of attorney general, secretary of war, or a position outside the cabinet, no one knows.

That Mr. Hoover had not definitely decided on Donovan for attorney general was indicated by the disclosure that the President Elect, as late as a fortnight ago, wanted to confer the portfolio on Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone, who was attorney general before Mr. Coolidge raised him to the bench, went to Miami and went fishing with Mr. Hoover. They discussed the proposal and Justice Stone came home and talked it over with advisers, including, presumably, his associates in the Supreme court.

Advisers Frown On It.

The advisers frowned on the proposition. They thought that a certain amount of impropriety would attach to the retirement of a Supreme court justice to take political office, particularly the position of attorney general, in which he would be required to argue government cases before his former colleagues on the bench.

The hand of the Supreme court is discerned in this line of reasoning, for it has been known for years that when, if not all, of the justices never have been reconciled to the prospect of Charles Evans Hughes retiring from the tribunal in 1930 to run for President.

At any rate, Justice Stone declined not to leave the bench.

It is known that Mr. Hoover at one time considered on page 4, column 1.

PRESIDENT NOT HURT AS BOMB SMASHES CARS

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—[AP.]—Provisional President Emilio Portes Gil today narrowly escaped the fate of the man to whose place he was elected. The train on which he was returning to the capital was dynamited, a fireman killed, and two coaches and the engine derailed. Gen. Alvaro Obregon, who would have become president last December, was assassinated last July and his slayer, Jose de Leon Toral, was executed yesterday and buried here today amid riotous scenes. Later an unexploded bomb was found in the headquarters of Aaron Saenz, governor of Nuevo Leon and the National Revolutionary party's candidate for president.

Page 1.

The president was returning from the state of Tamaulipas, where he had formally surrendered his office of governor to his successor. The presidential special, one of the finest trains in the world, was within 150 miles of the capital, between the stations of Comonfort and Rinconillo, in the state of Guanajuato, when a terrific blast threw the leading cars from the rails.

Fireman Instantly Killed.

The dynamite blast was placed on the track at a point where it ran over a bridge. The fireman was killed instantly as the engine turned past. The first car was a Pullman containing several members of the cabinet party, and the second car was that of the director general of railroads.

Page 1.

Although these cars were severely damaged, none of the occupants was injured.

President Portes Gil calmly descended from his private car farther back in the train and, accompanied by the secretary of war, walked forward to inspect the damage.

Page 1.

Señor Portes Gil, when he saw the destruction, merely shrugged his shoulders and said, "The revolution is in luck." (The president is a member of the so-called revolutionary party.)

Find Second Bomb.

A scout locomotive, which, as it was passing over the bridge without incident, just as the locomotive and the first cars ran upon the bridge it was blown to pieces beneath them. The remaining cars of the train remained upright on the rails.

Page 1.

Investigation after the explosion showed that another bomb containing two sticks of dynamite had been fixed to the track, but had not exploded. About 50 yards from the scene was found the remains of a camp and a receipt for a telegram filed at Tampico, from where the train had come.

Page 1.

The president was accompanied by his wife and baby daughter and secretary of war Amaro and Mrs. Amaro shared the private car. There was a large group of congressmen on the train as well as newspaper men.

Troops Hunt Fugitives.

An immediate search for the perpetrators of the attack was begun by the military escort of the train and further troops were sent out from Mexico City. The presidential party reached Queretaro tonight safely on the train which was not derailed.

Page 1.

Only three days ago President Portes Gil had refused to commute the sentence of death imposed on Gen. Obregon's assassin, Toral, which the highest courts of the land had found to be without legal law.

Page 1.

Head Clear in Two Hours.

He then telephoned to Chicago and a relief train was dispatched to the scene at 2:30 o'clock.

Two hours after the accident, rail officials reported, the right of way was cleared, the passengers realizing the danger had been placed on the train had proceeded on its way.

Peter Lombardi, 36 years old, 1011 South Oakley boulevard, who says he is a laborer but whom the police suspect of racketeering, was in a critical condition last night at the Oak Park hospital with five bullet wounds in the back of his neck. A motorist found him unconscious in a ditch at 23d street and Harlem avenue, Riverdale, and brought him to the hospital. Lombardi retained strength enough to tell the police he had gone riding with Mike Melillo, 5414 South Francisco avenue, and Sam Di Salvo, 1943 South Washington avenue, for whom the Marquette police started a search.

WHEN YOU HEAR NO TALK OF SHYLOCK

Broadway Ltd. Derailed; Steel Cars Save 100

Page 1.

Eight coaches composed the train, a club car, six Pullmans, and an observation car. While the train, the crack flyer of the Pennsylvania Lines, with passengers bound mostly for New York, Washington, and other eastern cities, was bowling through Hobart at fifty miles per hour an axle of the first Pullman snapped. Immediately there was a grinding of brakes as the air was applied.

Seven Cars Leave Rails.

All the Pullmans and the observation coach jumped the rails and bumped along on the ties for several hundred feet until the train was gradually brought to a halt. The club car, in which a number of the passengers were seated, and the locomotive, remained upon the rails.

Page 1.

No one was injured in the accident, few of the passengers realizing the danger had been placed on the train had proceeded on its way.

Page 1.

Only a few hundred persons were permitted to enter the coaches, but probably 100,000 lined three miles of streets, shouting "Viva Toral!" and throwing flowers on his casket as it passed. Several thousand police and soldiers were stationed along the route.

DAUGHTER'S LOVE BARTERED IN PLOT TO KILL HIS RIVAL

Flint, Mich., Feb. 10.—[AP.]—A murder plot in which Amos J. Jurek, 36, offered his 17-year-old daughter to a mechanic for contriving a bomb to kill Jurek's rival, was unfolded here today when Jurek, according to police, confessed to his part in the plot and implicated John Carrigan, 41, of Haslet.

Jurek was arrested yesterday and Carrigan today.

Page 1.

The bomb was mailed to Everett Baller, whose bride of a week had been Jurek's sweetheart, with instructions to open it when alone.

Page 1.

Baller opened it in the presence of his wife and several other persons.

Page 1.

A chain, which would have set off three sticks of dynamite if he had opened the handbag containing the bomb, was found.

Page 1.

Jurek, according to police, planned to marry Mrs. Baller after killing her husband. Carrigan was to have Jurek's aid in winning Irene, Jurek's daughter, if the plot succeeded.

Jurek confessed after hearing his roommate, Malcolm Cameron, tell of writing the note which told Baller to open the package when alone.

Page 1.

"I was desperately in love with Catherine (Mrs. Baller)," Jurek said, "and I bought a marriage license before she married Baller. John Carrigan made the bomb and he was to marry my daughter if the plan worked and I was to get Mrs. Baller."

COOLIDGE O. K.'S
YANKEE AS HEAD
OF DEBT EXPERTSRevision of Reparations Begins Today.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—(U.P.)—Owen D. Young of the United States will be chairman of the experts' committee when it meets at 2 p. m. tomorrow for the first official session to grapple with the great problem of reparations revision. Premier Raymond Poincaré is quoted by the Journal des Débats as saying "we wish to extend to the United States delegates our most ardent wishes for success in their work."

The rather detached manner assumes the American share in the work. With the approval of President Coolidge, which was announced in Washington today, there can no longer be any difficulty to prevent the chairmanship of Mr. Young despite his reluctance.

The French viewpoint, as either expert Moreau or Parmentier may put it tomorrow afternoon, is "France wants $10 billion dollars; $9 billion for reconstruction of northern France and for pensions and two billions each for payment of war debts to the United States and Great Britain." This entails sacrifice of the original total amount demanded by France, but she is entering the committee prepared to make these providing a similar reduction is made on her debt side by Britain and the United States.

Germany Wants Freed Rhine. Germany desires speedy decision with the emphasis on evacuation of the left bank of the Rhine. It is understood that Germany might be willing to sign measures which would make the Dawes plan payments appear small for the next ten years, providing the left bank of the Rhine is evacuated immediately.

Germany will argue that eleven billion gold marks ($3,750,000,000) in railroads and five billions ($1,250,000,000) of industrial debentures must be realized immediately, with the United States accepting 45 per cent. A preliminary skirmish on this angle between the Germans and Americans is expected early in the sessions.

Shorn of all diplomatic niceties, it appears that both France and Germany are preparing to put the question of reparations squarely up to the United States, with Great Britain as mediator.

Will Form Subcommittees. It is expected that the committee will subdivide itself as soon as it organizes tomorrow, as did the original Dawes committee. A subcommittee will be entrusted with the task of settling once and for all what is to be the total amount paid to the allies by Germany; and then fixing the annuities. Germany is desirous of riding herself of payments to France on the shortest schedule possible to arrange, without actual transfer of currency and gold, if possible.

It is understood that the committee will sit in Paris in a general way, and will go to Berlin only when necessary. The meeting tomorrow will be in the Hotel Astoria, formerly the headquarters of the reparations commission.

Harris Entertains U. S. Experts. PARIS, Feb. 10.—(U.P.)—Myron T. Harris, American ambassador to Paris, was host at luncheon today to members of the unofficial United States delegation to the committee of financial experts for revision of the Dawes plan of reparations payments.

Owen D. Young, J. Pierpont Morgan and Thomas W. Lamont, the American delegates and alternate, were present.

Forecast tonight indicated there will be an organized movement on the part of the German delegation, headed by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, to bring about a revaluation of German resources. Such a revaluation would be tantamount to an official repudiation of certain phases of the December report of Seymour Parker Gilbert, American agent general for reparations, which indicated Germany is in a position to pay heavily.

When Star Tried Matrimony Third Time

Germans Prepare Figures. Dr. Schacht and his large group of advisers and assistants were busy all day holding conferences preparatory to a presentation of the German viewpoint to the committee. Germany is understood to be ready to pledge that it is impossible to pay the sums which the allied nations demand. The entire allied demands probably will total more than twelve billion dollars at the opening sessions.

It now appears certain that Mr. Gilbert will be called upon by the experts either to make specific statements at the conference table or to reiterate in substance his reparations report of December.

It is obvious that Germany cannot plead too great covertly because the nation must provide attractive security for loans which will be needed to meet the settlement and secure—if possible—evacuation of the Rhineland by foreign troops.

Coolidge Gives O. K. Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(U.P.)—The unanimous demand expressed by the committee of experts in Paris that Owen D. Young, unofficial American delegate, act as the permanent chairman during their meeting to finally settle the German reparations problem, meets with the approval of President Coolidge.

Although Mr. Young demurred in Paris yesterday to the suggestion that he head the conference, the committee communicated to the U. S. government for the information of the President their unanimous desire to have the American delegate act in that capacity.

Attitude of the President was set forth today by a high official of the American government as being that, while he had hoped for the selection of one of the European delegates as chairman, he found no objection to Mr. Young acting as the head of the

FOUR SLAYERS AWAIT DEATH;
3 SEEK STAYSExecutions Are Set for Friday Morning.

Four convicted murderers spent what may have been their last Sabbath yesterday in separate cells in the county jail. Unless the Supreme court or Gov. Louis B. Emerson intervene, three of the condemned men will die singly in the electric chair, beginning one minute after midnight next Friday. The fourth is due to die on the gallows at dawn the same day. It will be Cook county's first electrocution and last hanging.

The candidates for the chair are Anthony Grecco and Charles Wala, convicted of murdering Policeman Arthur Esau in a drug store holdup; and Dave Shanks, Negro bootblack, who used an iron pipe to slay Miss Jennie M. Constance near the Bryn Mawr campus of Northwestern university, where she was a special student.

Seek Stays for Three.

Attorneys for all three have filed motions for a writ of superseas and will argue these motions before the Supreme court the fore part of the week. Should the motions be denied and the governor refuse to interfere, the three will be placed in death cells Thursday night.

Wala, who fired the bullets killing the policeman, will be strapped in the chair first, then Grecco and finally Shanks. Warden Edward Fogarty said. Twenty-three hundred volts of current will be used.

Legion May Seek Stay.

The man doomed to the gallows is William Hauke, convicted of killing his mother-in-law in a trial which the Supreme court refused to review. Warden Fogarty said he understood the American Legion was planning an appeal to Gov. Emerson for Hauke, a veteran wounded at Vimy Ridge. State Commander David L. Shillinglaw and County Commander George M. Kellogg Jr. denied the report and announced the Legion as an organization would not attempt to meddle with the administration of justice. Commander Shillinglaw added that a group of Legionnaires intended to privately ask clemency for Hauke from the governor.

Seized for Trying to Annoy Woman at Movie John Namor, 23 years old, 1235 North La Salle street, a cook, was arrested by Shakespeare avenue police last night on the complaint of Mrs. O. T. When the man tried to force his attention upon her, Mrs. Hanson called an usher, who handed him over to the police.

MOODY RESIGNS
AS CHAIRMAN OF SEMINARY BOARD

New York, Feb. 10.—(U.P.)—The New York Times tomorrow will say that William R. Moody has resigned as chairman of the board of trustees of Northfield Seminary for Girls, East Northfield, Mass.; the Mount Hermon School for Boys near East Northfield, and the summer Bible and missionary conference at East Northfield.

Mr. Moody, the eldest son of Dwight Moody, the evangelist, who was commissioned by his father to carry on the religious work and has devoted 20 years to the direction of the three projects, presented his resignation at a meeting of the board of trustees in New York Friday. He gave as his reason for resigning the policy and conduct of the work as carried on by the Rev. Elliott Spear, president of the board. Seventeen of the 26 trustees were present and they voted unanimously to accept the resignation.

LINDBERGH HOPS TO MANAGUA ON HOME MAIL TRIP

Accompanied by Second Plane from Panama.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 10.—(U.P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, whose inaugural flight over the Pan American Airways route from Miami, Fla., to Cristobal, C. Z., was so successful that two planes were required to carry the mail on the return trip, landed here at 1:25 p. m. en route to Miami.

The second plane, piloted by Lyman K. Merritt, accompanied Col. Lindbergh's big two-motored Sikorsky amphibian. The planes are, usually alike.

No Ceremonies at Landings.
The planes left Panama field, Cristobal, at 8:45 a. m., with 600 pounds of mail from Panama. Col. Lindbergh was accompanied by Col. John Hamblen, vice president of the Pan American Airways, Inc., and Harry L. Duesky, radio operator. Merritt's plane carried D. H. Armstrong, co-pilot, and John Donahue, mechanic.

The air mail caravan halted at David, Panama, at 8:55 a. m. and after a short stop, left for Puntarenas, Costa Rica, which they reached at 11 a. m. There was no ceremony at either stop. Col. Lindbergh, gliding his plane to the landing field first and Merritt following closely.

To Reach Miami Tomorrow.
Weather was clear and cool, apparently favorable for the flight.

Col. Lindbergh said he expected to reach Miami, Tuesday. The fliers will remain here tonight, leaving for Tela, Honduras, early tomorrow morning.

MURDER WITNESS IS KIDNAPED AND WARNED BY GANG

James Conway, 34 years old, attendant in a filling station, was kidnaped last night from a garage in the rear of his home at 7222 Greenwood avenue by five men, who drove him around half an hour in their sedan, warned him to retract his identification of a prisoner accused in a murder case, and then pushed him to the street. Conway's wife, Rose, who saw him seized, notified the Grange Crossing police.

On Jan. 29 at the Bridgwell hospital Conway identified James Strock, 31 years old, 7017 Clyde avenue, as the killer of James Webb, a baseball player, who was shot last August in a saloon brawl at 7469 South Chicago avenue. Strock was in the hospital after having been shot by a policeman who caught him among a gang who wrecked a cigar store operated by Frank and Thomas Faye at 812 Garfield boulevard.

ON WAY HOME

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh reached Managua, Nicaragua, yesterday, on his return trip from Panama. He was accompanied by a second plane, also loaded with mail. Col. Lindbergh is pioneering the route for a regular air mail service from the United States to Panama and ultimately South America.

WILLIAM SAYS HE IS IN HANDS OF POLICE, AND HE IS

William J. Walsh, 32 years old, 7945 Eberhart avenue, a salesman, sat in a cell at the Kensington police station last night, ruminating on the thorny path of true love. For the last year he had wooed Hazel Lofgren, 24 years old. And she on her part had smiled when William called on her at 11138 Vernon avenue.

But last Friday night Hazel changed her mind. But she couldn't change William. So she ordered him out of her house.

Last night William wandered into the Kensington station. He called up Hazel. He said he was in the hands of the police and asked her to come over. She said she would not. So William betook himself to the desk sergeant. Were there many holdups around there, he asked. There were not, he was informed.

Half an hour later the Roseland hospital called up the station and said a young man had just come in declaring that he had been held up and slugged. No apparent injuries were visible, the hospital said, but the man insisted they call up a girl named Hazel. So the police called Hazel and asked to have the young man brought down.

Hazel sidestepped William's rush with open arms.

"Sergeant," she said, "I've been annoyed enough by this guy. Lock him up. I'll sign a complaint against him. He's a pest."

That's how William came to be sitting in a police cell last night.

PEACE BETWEEN POPE AND ITALY TO COME TODAY

Pact Will Be Signed in Ancient Palace.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ROME, Feb. 10.—The Eternal city was in a feverish state today on the eve of the new peace era between Italy and the Holy See.

Premier Benito Mussolini, Cardinal Gasparri, Mgr. Borromeo, Duce and Pisanaro, Mgr. Ferretti and Mameli, and Mgr. Pacelli, papal nuncio, will sign the peace pact between the Vatican and Italy at ten o'clock tomorrow morning in the thousand year old Lateran palace.

The peace pact will be followed immediately by the signing of a concordat which will firmly restore the temporal power of the pope. His domain, materially, will be small, as only immediate strips of land surrounding the Vatican, such as the holy office at Santa Marta, Scaccia hill, Zecca, the Algherian college and the Roman seminary and the road round the Vatican walls will form the new "City of the Vatican."

Pontiff Gets Palace.
The pontiff's sovereignty is also to be extended over the Lateran palace, Castel Gandolfo, and Muebrelli villa, summer home of the pope prior to 1870. The papal gendarmes will soon take up police experience. The churches of St. Peter, St. John Lateran, St. Mary Major, and St. Paul are recognized, along with adjoining buildings, as papal property.

The signing will be marked by an exchange of the two gold keys used at the ceremony, bearing the papal and Savoy arms respectively.

The ceremony will take place in the papal hall of the Lateran palace, which has witnessed any number of vital gatherings since it was built by Emperor Constantine.

Rome Plans Celebrations.
The pope will announce the solution of the Rome question in an allocution or encyclical letter, while King Victor Emmanuel is to hear the happy tidings in a crown speech at parliament opening on April 21.

Fascist and Roman organizations are preparing three historical demonstrations to the pope, the king and Premier Mussolini on Tuesday.

CATHOLICS WARN OF MORAL DECAY IN ENGLISH HOME

Christ and Marriage Ties Forgotten.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Copyright, 1929, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, Feb. 10.—A solemn rebuke based on the present trend of Christianity is contained today in the joint pastoral letter of the Catholic hierarchy of England and Wales. It is signed by Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, and other archbishops and bishops. It was read today, Quinquagesima Sunday, in all Roman Catholic churches in England and Wales, commemorating the centenary of Catholic emancipation in the British Isles.

"Today we see around us the fatal consequences of the policy doomed to ultimate failure from the beginning. . . . Once worship was necessarily based upon belief; now they are disjoined, and with disruption of belief worship has lost its significance and the appeal which was once made to the whole nation.

Divinity of Christ Ignored.
"The whole hearted acceptance of truth and of the divine nature of our Savior, with all the consequences from that acceptance, are rapidly becoming rarer, even among those who honor and revere him. There is no need to dwell upon the endless variety and strange contradictions and forms of divine worship in this England, in which once in every church of many thousands which adorned it the same form of worship was offered God throughout the year.

"Unity was first abandoned; then Christianity became a hopeless search; today faith in the primary truths of Christianity is weakening and waning. It is inevitable that moral consequences can no longer be averted.

Sacredness of Marriage.
"The sacredness of Christian marriage and its permanent character and the holiness of married state and the natural laws which govern it are no longer recognized, even by many who hold themselves to be Christians. The age long traditions of Christianity in these matters, which are the foundations of our civilization, are disregarded and set aside. The sad experience is shown us that when we look outside our own body for sympathy and support in our upholding of these traditions the answer is nowadays halting and hesitating."

LINCOLN'S 'LOST SPEECH' QUOTED AFTER 73 YEARS

At 90, Witness Vividly Remembers Event.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

La Roy, Ill., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—Lincoln's "lost speech," for many years altogether unrecorded, often called the greatest of his career, and made in the historic Bloomington convention where many claim the Republican party was born on May 23, 1856, was recalled today by William H. Porter, this town's best known biographer, out of a memory as fresh and green as the spring.

Old Mr. Porter will be ninety come next August. He says he well remembers the "lost speech" and he will draw on his keen recollection to tell you the theme, even some of the phrases. He will add that he was there at the convention, a boy about 17, a boy with a growing interest in the issues and politics that were in the next few years to lead the nation into the greatest of all civil struggles.

Birthday Reminiscences.

Each year as the Great Emancipator's birthday approaches you will find old Mr. Porter reminiscing. You will find him sitting round the hot blast stove in the harness shop "down town," or near the glowing forge in Frank Russell's smithy. Or he might be the center of a gathering of farmers and townsmen in Guard's Implement house, or chatting with 83 year old Taylor Williams in the village hall.

As it happened the old gentleman was listening one day on the radio when he heard some reference to the "lost speech."

He forthwith sat down and wrote a letter in which he stated that he knew about the famous "lost speech" and would be glad to tell what he recalled of it. This he did in a personal interview.

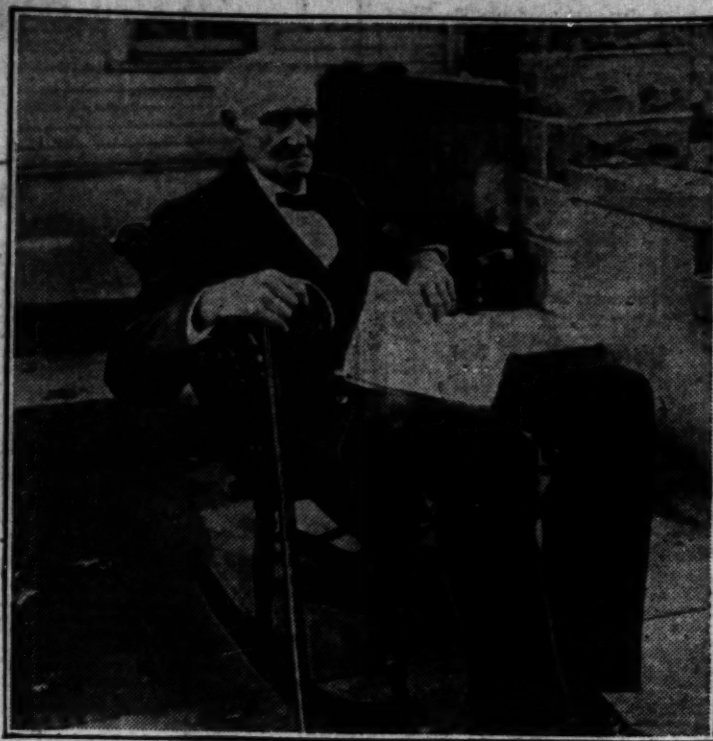

The Birth of a Party.

"Let's see," he said; "1856—yes, that was it, May 23, 1856. I was a big boy then, just going on 17—big as a man, almost, and used to working on father's farm. I happened into town—Bloomington—that day—but hold on—previous to that I had just learned there was such a man as Abraham Lincoln and he was a great Whig and opposed to slavery and that the Whig party was about to peter out—and that there was dissatisfaction in the Democratic party on account of slavery."

"Well, this 23rd day of May was the day they were going to get together in Major's hall in Bloomington and try to make a new party—what is now the Republican party. But I don't think they decided on a name that day—as I remember it I didn't hear a name mentioned."

"As I say, I was in town and I had heard a good deal about Abe Lincoln and how he was an ox driver and a flat boater and all, and I saw others going to this meeting and I heard them saying they were going to hear what was going on; so I hitched up my team and went along to that meeting. When I got there I found the hall was crowded and all I could do was to tiptoe up and listen as best I could.

RECALLS LINCOLN'S LOST SPEECH

W. H. PORTER.

"Well, directly I saw right above me a casting with a sort of back to it so's one couldn't fall off backward. Lou Jannus was a settler up there and four or five others, but there was a little more room and Lou Jannus says, 'Come up here, Will, we can make room for ya.'"

"I turned to a fellow standing there and I says, 'Give me a leg, and I held up my left leg, like gettin' on a horse, you know; and that way I got a good seat and heard it all.'"

"And you recollect, Mr. Porter, what Lincoln said that day?"

"Why, yes; pretty well all of it. He went over the ground, by way of preamble, that if Washington and his fellow patriots had a hard seven years' war to prove the Declaration of Independence meant what it said, it would be a great mistake—or a great pity, I can't remember his exact words—it would be a calamity to have the Union broken up now—that is then, in 1856."

Union Must Be Preserved.
"Then there was a good deal more he said, but the leading idea was that the Union must be preserved—Andy Jackson's language—the Union must be preserved, and 'We WILL not go out and you SHALL not—'we' the North, and 'you' the South. 'We Union people WILL NOT ALLOW you to go out.'"

"Now, I don't know just how he said ALL that, but the big idea with Lincoln was, 'Stand by the government—stand by the government—don't let the south secede.'"

"I remember Lyman Trumbull, a Free Soil Democrat, was there. There were a good many other Democrats there that helped to make the new party."

"That is, the Republican party?"

"Yes, that was it; but as I say, I treated in the late Albert J. Beveridge's great unfinished work, "Abraham Lincoln." Mr. Beveridge states that Lincoln made it to bring many diverse elements which met at the Bloomington convention together. "In doing this," states the biographer, "Lincoln had to say things which, for the very same reason that he then spoke them extemporaneously, he never would put on paper for publication thereafter."

Continuing about the "lost speech," Mr. Beveridge says that "John I. Scipio, then editor of the Chicago Press, was there," and that "a young reporter from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Joseph McMill, who was soon to have much to do with the advancement of Lincoln's political fortunes, was also at the convention."

May Have Suppressed Speech.

Mr. Beveridge says that Lincoln may have told the newspaper men not to publish the "lost speech." He adds that W. H. Herndon, Lincoln's law partner, "tried to take notes, but became so excited [by the speech] he stopped." He says that Henry Clay Whitney, a youthful admirer of Lincoln, remained cool and did take some notes, and that Whitney many years afterward transcribed the speech from memory and these notes.

In Whitney's version, given by Mr. Beveridge, Lincoln, reaching the climax of the speech, the questions of the secession of the south, said: "We will say to the southern disunionists, we won't go out of the Union and you shan't!"

Which compares favorably with what old Mr. Porter says Lincoln said. And Mr. Porter had never seen a copy of Mr. Beveridge's work.

H. G. HOWARD, 56, FORMER CHICAGO REALTOR, DIES

Word was received in Chicago yesterday of the death of Homer G. Howard, formerly senior partner of Howard, Orr & Co., real estate dealers, which occurred suddenly last Friday at his home in Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Howard was 56 years old.

In 1921 Mr. Howard sought relaxation from his real estate business by writing popular songs. He is the author of "I'm Going to Wander," "Every Day," and several others. He retired from active business in 1924 and has spent the years since in travel.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Doris Jean Howard.

Two Races Join in Honoring Memory of Abraham Lincoln

Race differences were forgotten yesterday in memory of Abraham Lincoln, whose 129th birthday anniversary occurs tomorrow. Many white and negro clergymen in Chicago exchanged pulpits in observance of race relations Sunday.

This Commemoration of the Birthday of Lincoln was Arranged by the Chicago Church Federation to Further the Friendship and Good Will Between the Two Races.

The problem of race relations is not primarily economic, but religious, said Dean Shaller Mathews, dean of the divinity school of the University of Chicago and chairman of the Chicago church federation's committee on race relations. He said that during the sixty years that have passed since the emancipation of the Negro, the progress of the colored people in the face of handicaps and opposition has shown the high quality of the race.

Urges Emulation of Lincoln.

Soapbox orators who extol the virtues of Abraham Lincoln should climb down from their perches and emulate as well as eulogize the spirit and purpose of the Great Emancipator, Dr. Frederick F. Shannon, pastor of the Central church, declared at a special Lincoln anniversary service last night.

"As we commemorate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln Tuesday," Dr. Shannon said, "let us take a pledge to reincarnate in our own lives as far as possible, his spirit and purpose. It is vain for us to cry 'Lincoln, Lincoln,' to extol his simplicity and self-sacrifice, and then go on leading our artificial and selfish lives."

"It is enough to make the angels weep and the spirit of the Great Emancipator shudder to hear people swear by Lincoln, then act politically, so-

POLES TO GIVE GREATER POWER TO PILSUDSKI

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 10.—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski's party has presented to the speaker of parliament a change in the constitution of Poland which will increase the dictatorial powers. The proposals follow:

Poland's government to remain parliamentary as a government responsible before parliament; the voting age to be increased to 24; the army to be given voting rights; the president to be permitted to veto any law or project accepted by parliament or the senate; a vote of confidence in the government possible only by a majority of two-thirds of the deputies; the president to be elected in a national vote on two candidates, one proposed by the retiring president and the other by parliament and the senate; the government to appoint one-third of the members of the senate.

Time had the names of Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles and Nelson Perkins of Boston under consideration for either secretary of state or attorney general. Within the last week the gossip from Miami was to the effect that Mr. Robinson had been offered the justice post. The latest Miami report is that Mr. Robinson had been compelled by the press of private business interests to decline a cabinet position. Betting that Donovan will be named attorney general is again active.

Place for the Wilbur.
If Justice Stone had accepted a cabinet position a vacancy would have been created in the Supreme court, which might have been filled by the appointment of Curtis D. Wilbur, now secretary of the navy. Mr. Wilbur, who was formerly a justice of the California Supreme court, is going out of the cabinet chiefly because his brother, Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford university, is coming in.

The latter, who held high office under Mr. Hoover in the food administration during the war, is said to be slated for secretary of the interior. But for the fact that it would not be politically expedient to have two brothers in his cabinet, Mr. Hoover doubtless would retain Secretary Wilbur. It would occasion no surprise if Secretary Wilbur should receive the first available judicial appointment, possibly in the Supreme court.

Brown to Succeed Now?
It is understood that Postmaster General Harry New will be succeeded by Walter F. Brown of Ohio, who is now assistant secretary of commerce by choice of Mr. Hoover, when the President Elect was head of that department. Mr. Brown, a former Bull Moose, was active in the pre-convention Hoover campaign.

It is expected, in view of the keen desire of the President Elect to build up a strong white man's Republican party in the south, that a southern Republican will be called to the cabinet. It would occasion no surprise if Stuart W. Cramer, millionaire cotton mill owner of North Carolina, should be the one chosen. Mr. Cramer might appropriately be made secretary of the navy for he is a graduate of Annapolis, where he is a roommate of Secretary Wilbur, is a member of the naval reserve and actively interested in naval matters generally. He was chairman of the Republican state committee of North Carolina in the election campaign.

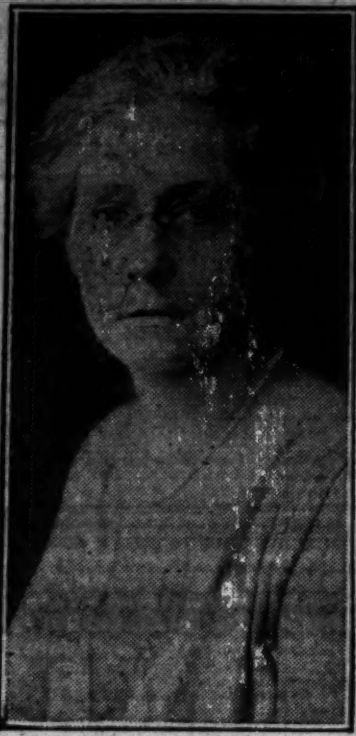

Doak's Chances Appear Good.
Another southerner who may be found in the cabinet is William W. Doak of Virginia, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, whose chances for secretary of labor appear good. One report from Miami, however, is to the effect that Doak is opposed by the American Federation of Labor and that the upshot might be the selection of William Green, president of the federation.

As to whether William M. Jardine will be retained as secretary of agriculture, the gossip is conflicting. Some who have sounded Mr. Hoover in his Florida retreat think that Samuel R. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska, will get the job. On secretary of commerce the guessers are up in the air and falling back on the suggestion that the logical choice is Julius Klein, who was Mr. Hoover's selection for chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce in the department of commerce, position he still holds. Hugh Gibson, ambassador to Belgium, undoubtedly will receive a high appointment, possibly under-secretary of state. He was closely associated with Mr. Hoover in Belgian relief. George Akerson is to be secretary of the President, George Bar Baker, on research secretary who assists in the preparation of addresses, and Lawrence Richey, the third secretary, who will act as liaison officer between the executive and the independent boards and commissions.

STAR GO-GETTER IN CONGRESS IS HIRAM JOHNSON

Bill Hands California Five Million Flood Fund.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—Undisputed laurels as the champion go-getter of the present congress have been bestowed by his colleagues upon Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep., Cal.).

After winning his fight early in the session for legislation authorizing the $150 million dollar Boulder dam project, Senator Johnson has topped off his activities in behalf of the state of California during the last week by obtaining congressional approval of Sacramento river flood control items in the army appropriation bill. One of the items refunds $4,370,000 to the state of California and another increases an annual appropriation from $400,000 to $1,000,000.

Establish Dangerous Precedent.
According to Senator Lee S. Overman (Dem., N. C.), ranking minority member of the senate appropriations committee, the Sacramento river action has established a precedent which might easily bankrupt the federal government.

Despite severe criticisms and expressions of amazement by Senators Overman, David A. Reed (Rep., Pa.), chairman of the appropriations subcommittee in charge of the bill; Carter Glass (Dem., Va.), F. M. Simmons (Dem., N. C.), Thomas J. Walsh (Dem., Mont.), John J. E. Walsh (Rep., Wis.), and others, the senate by a vote of 35 to 23 approved restoration of the Sacramento river items introduced by the appropriations committee.

Believe U. S. Obligated.
Many of the senators who supported Senator Johnson did so on the theory that the federal government was obligated to make the appropriations by reason of an authorization slipped into the Mississippi flood control act a year ago. That authorization, which was so phrased as to be unintelligible unless reference was made to another document, was added to the original senate bill as a rider in the house and then was accepted by senate conferees of whom Senator Johnson was one.

Senator Wesley L. Jones (Rep., Wash.), chairman of the commerce committee which was in charge of the Mississippi flood control bill, admitted when various senators this last week sought enlightenment on this matter of which they previously never had heard, that during the consideration of that measure last year, the Sacramento river project was not so much mentioned either on the floor of the senate or at any meeting of the commerce committee. Senator Jones said "the matter was not investigated particularly and several of us did not really want to include the Sacramento appropriation in that bill."

However, Senator Jones expressed the view that "we have by solemn legislation" obligated the government.

For Federal Participation.
The effect of the authorization in the Mississippi flood control act was to increase the federal government's obligation for the Sacramento river project from $5,000,000 to $17,000,000. Congress in 1917 provided for federal participation in this project, which embraced three purposes, flood control, improvement of navigation, and reclamation of delta lands into the river by hydraulic mining operations. Under the original terms of the act the federal government was to pay one-sixth of the entire cost, then estimated at $15,000,000. California was to pay one-sixth and the other four-sixths was to be paid by local property owners.

The property owners complained of an excessive appropriation over a period of years finally resulted in a recommendation by the California debris commission, a federal agency, that the share of the federal government and the state of California be increased to one-third each. By this time the estimated cost had jumped to $51,000,000.

The state of California in 1925 accepted the proposal for an increase in its share of the cost, conditional upon similar action by congress. Until the Mississippi flood control act came along, offering trading possibilities, the California interests met one rebuff after another.

The army engineers disapproved of the recommendations of the California debris commission.

There was a serious question as to the extent of the federal government's responsibility. While the government is conceded to have an interest in the improvement of navigation, it is no where else has assumed responsibility for flood control except on the Mississippi river, which is an interstate matter.

Approved by Budget Bureau.
On the basis of the authorization in the Mississippi flood control act the budget bureau approved the items as contained in the annual army appropriation bill. The house appropriations committee and the house gave approval, but members of the senate appropriations committee inquired into the proposition and struck out the refund item entirely and reduced the $1,000,000 appropriation for the next fiscal year to $400,000.

"As a member of the appropriations committee I was simply amazed that the United States was called upon to refund this money to California," Senator Overman told the senate when the question of approving the committee amendments came up for action.

"If we should set that precedent it would open a Pandora's box which would bankrupt this government."

"If we refund to California $4,000,000 for the Sacramento river, which is a state river, why not refund to Louisiana a million dollars which the taxpayers of that state have raised for the Mississippi river? Why not appropriate to Arkansas, why not appropriate to Mississippi the millions and millions of dollars the taxpayers of those states have raised among themselves for that river?"

Virginia Might Ask for Refund.
"Why not refund to the south $25,000,000 of direct tax that was levied by this government when we were in dire distress, that all the lawyers of this country know was an unconstitutional act? Why not refund to the state of Virginia a billion dollars for the sale of public land which she reserved in her deed when she ceded to the government the Northwest Territory?"

BARON TANAKA WINS DIET VOTE IN HOT DEBATE
TOKIO, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A motion for a vote of nonconfidence in the government was defeated, 249 to 185, today in the tenth Sunday session which the diet has known in its history of 40 years.

The vote climaxed two days of torrid debate during which the Minseitō party brought up its heaviest oratorical artillery. Frequent recesses were necessary owing to the uproar resulting from the denunciations of various ministers.

The ability of Premier Baron Gichichi Tanaka to finish out the session is believed to be assured, although the opposition attacks based on the bombing of the late Marshal Chang Tso-lin and the government's policy toward China have weakened his standing with the public.

COMMANDER OF AVIATION FIELD AT RANTOUL DIES

Rantoul, Ill., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Lieut. Col. Seth W. Cook, 51, commander of Champaign field, fell dead today at his quarters near the government flying field. He had been ill of heart disease for two days. Maj. L. G. Hoffmann, who has been assistant commander, will be in charge.

Lieut. Col. Cook came to Champaign June 28, 1915, from Fort Hayes, Columbus, O., where he was air officer for the fifth corps area. He was born in California. He is survived by his wife.

of VIENNA and BUDAPEST—head of the famous House of Pessl, beauty advisors to the aristocracy for over 100 years—advises this one way to skin beauty

This celebrated expert emphasizes the importance of washing for beauty and warns against the ill-effects of soaps not specially made to retain the bloom of a good complexion.

Above the doorway of the Pessl Shop, across from the opera house in Vienna, may be seen crests of some of the celebrated Royal Houses to which the House of Pessl has acted as beauty advisor.

"I earnestly recommend to my clients that they use only the soap blended of palm and olive oils. The use of Palmolive is especially important because its gentle action leaves the skin in a healthy, smooth, normal condition which is the very foundation of a beautiful complexion."

S. PESSL, head of the celebrated House of Pessl, which has ministered to the beauty needs of Royalty for over 100 years. Monsieur Pessl is court hair-dresser today, and has as patrons the Emperors of Austria and many of the Queens of Europe.

IN gay Vienna, where the women are enchanting in romantic Budapest, on the Danube—there is one name in beauty culture which has been recognized for over a hundred years—the name of Pessl!

Today, in the celebrated shop across from the opera in Vienna, S. Pessl carries on the tradition of the Pessl name. The crowned heads to which he has ministered are evidenced by the royal crests he is authorized to display above the windows of his typically Viennese shop.

To his select patrons, Pessl recommends a very simple treatment for retaining youthful loveliness... the same treatment advised by the outstanding beauty specialists of Paris, Berlin, Rome, London, Geneva—everywhere.

Palm and olive oils in soap
"I should naturally have been led, by my knowledge of the complexion effects of palm and olive oils," says S. Pessl, "to have invented a soap made exclusively from them."

"As these oils are already combined in Palmolive Soap," Monsieur Pessl explains, "I earnestly recommend to my patrons that they use only this soap. Its gentle action cleans the skin thoroughly and, at the same time, leaves it in a healthy, smooth, normal condition which is the very foundation of a beautiful complexion."

The famous "international" treatment for a lovely skin

The poisonous and dangerous secretions of dirt and dust, of make-up and cream which find their way deep into the pores must be removed. Palm and olive oils, as they are blended in Palmolive Soap, act to soften the skin, to cleanse the pores, to refresh the natural coloring.

To get the utmost benefit from Palmolive Soap, you are urged by all the experts to follow this treatment, twice a day: with both hands make a rich lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Massage it gently into the skin, permitting it to penetrate the pores, to free them of all impurities. Then rinse, first with warm water, later cold. An ice massage is invigorating.

M. Pessl's advice is echoed by such famous specialists as Lina Cavallieri, of Paris; Elise Bock, of Berlin; Bertha Jacobson, of London. Whenever women seek the best skin care they are told: wash for beauty with Palmolive Soap.

Chief of Police Blue Island announced that he would today in an effort to solve the case of Howard Coleman, who confessed the murder of Laura Buchholz, 11 years old, of Jan. 23. Coleman was arrested at the hospital for the insane, where he had been confined since he was shot.

Chief Fiedler's special authorities would take Coleman and have him confined in the hospital, which he described as "a place where you can't get out." The chief explained to accept the case on the grounds to complete his duty, the chief had to obtain custody of the case before the extradition of Coleman. Today, that physician said, will be able to release Coleman. Fiedler was not detained last Tuesday went to Logan, Ill., to see Coleman. CONFESSION MAY SOLVE MURDER OF BUCHHOLZ GIRL

Police Seek Custody of Indiana Prisoner.

Chief of Police George Fiedler of Blue Island announced late last night that he would go to Logansport, Ind., today in an effort to obtain custody of Howard Coleman, 29 years old, who has confessed the slaying of Miss Laura Buchholz, 28 years old, 327 Hansen avenue, Blue Island, on the night of Jan. 22. Coleman is now held for observation at the Northern Indiana Hospital for the Insane at Logansport.

Chief Fiedler said that if the hospital authorities would permit he would take Coleman to Blue Island and have him re-narrate the crime, which he described in his confession. Explains Earlier Attitude.

The chief explained an earlier refusal to accept the confession as genuine on the ground that he had hoped to complete his chain of evidence in the case before making an effort to obtain custody of Coleman. Indiana law, the chief pointed out, prohibits the extradition of mentally deranged suspects. Today, he said, he hopes that physicians at the Indiana hospital will be able to release their patient.

Fiedler was notified of Coleman's detention last Tuesday and immediately went to Logansport. He said he did not hear Coleman's confession. The chief was also in doubt, he explained, because George Mortos had failed to identify Coleman as the man who washed his hands in Mortos' slanty in Blue Island an hour after the killing. Later information convinced Fiedler, he said, that the person Mortos saw was not the slayer.

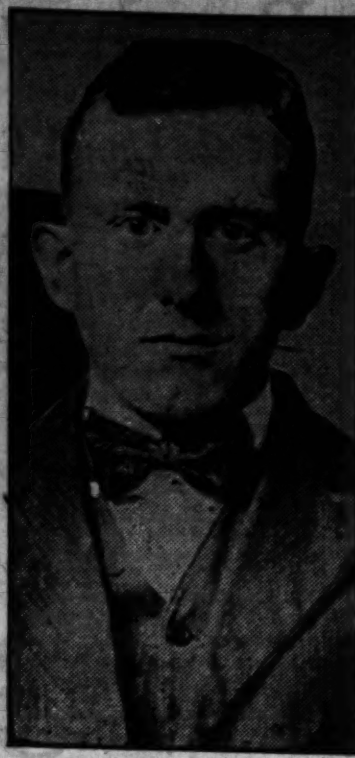

Acts on Mayor's Advice.

Chief Fiedler said he had determined to make the trip to Logansport again after a conference with Mayor Paul T. Klein of Blue Island. While these developments were taking place in Blue Island, Sheriff Thomas B. McDonald of Laporte, Ind., revealed the ruse by which Coleman was induced to confess the slaying of Miss Buchholz.

Coleman was employed by the American Wire Fabric plant at 134th street and Western avenue, Blue Island. He was boarding at 237 Des Plaines street, Blue Island. On the day following the night of Jan. 22, when Miss Buchholz was clubbed to death in a vacant lot near 125 West 123d street, Blue Island, Coleman quit work and went to the home of his mother on a farm 18 miles north of Laporte and near the Michigan-Indiana state line.

Coleman was agitated and nervous, his mother said, and two days later she telephoned to Sheriff McDonald. The sheriff visited the home and made friends with Coleman. They drove to

HOWARD COLEMAN.
(Fiedler and Atlantic Photo.)

Laporte and Coleman appeared normal, although nervous, the sheriff said. Then, by prearrangement, both Coleman and the sheriff were arrested and thrown into adjoining cells. Coleman whispered to the sheriff that he had killed a woman and gradually unfolded the entire story of the slaying, McDonald said. He described the scene perfectly and told of striking Miss Buchholz over the head with a club, insisting that he had not meant to kill her, according to the sheriff.

MAIL COLLECTOR FINDS $35,000 IN BONDS IN RUBBISH

Philip Cappitelli, 32 years old, is a mail collector. He resides with his family in a bungalow at 2308 North Austin boulevard, and if you question him closely he will admit that $35,000 mortgage hangs over that bungalow.

On Saturday he was plodding up an alleyway near the La Salle Street station with a load of mail. Passing a rubbish heap a paper bearing the name, F. S. Lewis & Co., brokers, 111 West Jackson boulevard, a name familiar to him in his rounds of picking up mail, caught his eye. Kicking the paper, Cappitelli uncovered $35,000 worth of negotiable bonds.

Fifteen minutes later Cappitelli presented the bulky package of bonds at the Lewis office. And ten minutes after that he walked out with a broad smile as he fingered a check for $50 made payable to himself. Arthur Bettis, 5125 Bernard street, one of the Lewis company's messengers, lost the bonds while taking them to another brokerage office, it was explained.

MRS. BURNHAM'S BUSINESS UNDER COURT SCRUTINY

Judge to Study Legality of Gum Machine Today.

Whether the late Mrs. Selma Burnham, who died under unexplained circumstances at Garfield Park hospital on Jan. 21, was engaged in a legitimate business in operating the Burnham-Gum Vending Machine company, will be determined by Probate Judge Henry Horner today when he receives a report from a representative of the public administrator. If the business is shown to have been legal, the court will attempt to continue to operate it, the judge said.

"I've heard reports that the company in reality manufactured a gambling device, and if this is true of course it cannot be continued with the sanction of the court," Judge Horner said.

On Feb. 13 Judge Horner will question Edward T. Riley, confidant and business manager for Mrs. Burnham, the widow of Sanford A. Burnham, whose estate was believed to have been worth in the neighborhood of $500,000.

Bundesen Conducts Inquiry.

Meanwhile Coroner Herman N. Bundesen is conducting an inquiry into the cause of Mrs. Burnham's death. If an indication of violence develops, it is planned to disinter the body of Burnham and perform an autopsy.

Remarks credited to Mrs. Burnham to the effect that "Riley threatens to tell all about how Burnham died" turned attention of officials to the inquiry into Burnham's death.

Two daughters of Burnham, Mrs. Josephine Gowen, 6636 Cregier avenue, and Mrs. Isabelle Ballard, are contesting the claims of Riley to an interest in the Burnham estate.

TWO GIRL FLYERS HOP OFF AFTER FLIGHT RECORDS

One Fails and Other Is Still Up.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Two girl flyers launched assaults on existing women's aviation records here today.

Miss Marvel Crosson piloted her Travelair plane to an altitude above 20,000 feet in an effort to better the 20,370 foot record now held by Miss Louise McPhetridge of Oakland, Cal. Miss Bobbie Trout went aloft in her Golden Eagle plane at 5:30 p. m. bent on breaking the night flying endurance and the nonstop distance records.

Miss Crosson landed.

Miss Crosson, who landed at 4:54 o'clock, was aloft two hours and thirty minutes. She said that the last time she looked at her altimeter, which was graduated to 20,000 feet, she had passed that mark. Whether she bettered the record will be determined by an official reading of the barograph she carried.

The motor of Miss Crosson's ship failed and she was forced to dive to a lower altitude. Twice more she attempted to climb to the "ceiling," but she said she believed her first attempt was the best. The temperature at her highest altitude was 15 degrees below zero.

Miss Trout Still Up.

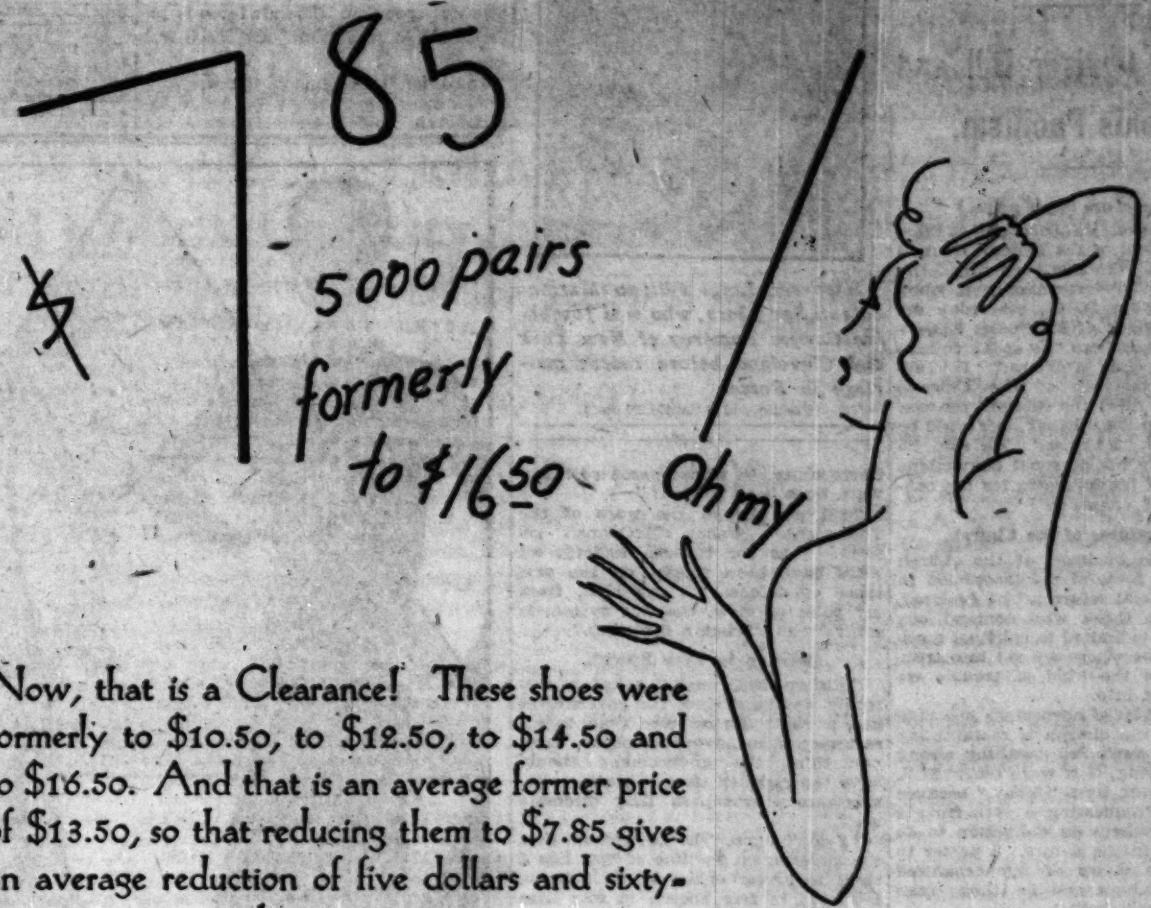

Miss Trout, who established an endurance flight record Jan. 1, only to have it beaten within a month by Miss Elinor Smith of New York, planned to fly 30 hours.

She will circle the course made famous by the Question Mark on its 150 hour flight in an effort to exceed the 932 mile distance record. If the young aviatrice stays aloft through the night she will have beaten the eight hour women's night flying record.

HUNT BANDITS IN STORM ROBBERY.

BISHOP DEFENDS USE OF CHURCH POWER IN LOBBY

Attacks Cruiser Bill and Upholds Pacifism.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York, president of the Federal Council of Churches, who has been called the head of the Protestant church lobby at Washington, D. C., yesterday defended the right of Methodist Episcopal church members "to speak collectively on social problems." He addressed a meeting of the Chicago Forum that filled the Adelphi Theater. The bishop denied that he should be classed as a "lobbyist." He said he merely spoke his personal convictions and those of his followers for the consideration of congress.

The Business of the Church.
"It is the business of the church to create a forceful public opinion in behalf of social reforms," he declared. "There are those who contend our jurisdiction is limited to spiritual questions. That's where we get into trouble, but it's the kind of trouble we ought to get into."

"A big Chicago newspaper has published that the church is maintaining a lobby. I don't see anything wrong in our doing it, if it were true. Still, I don't like the term 'lobby,' because a lobby, in requesting a vote from a legislator, creates an obligation to do him favors in the future. I prefer to express the views of my organized church members and let those take the advice who will."

Refers to Cruiser Bill.

The speaker took as a specific illustration his opposition to the fifteen cruiser bill that was fought by pacifists. This bill has been passed by the senate by a vote of 68 to 12 despite pacifist opposition last Wednesday and is now awaiting the President's signature.

"I don't see any reason why we shouldn't express our opinion of the bill," the bishop said, "regardless of who voted for it. The bill is wrong and points in the wrong direction. It is a dangerous gesture by the United States."

Blames "the Imperial Dollar."

"Our aim is to create a public opinion that will make war impossible. The youth of this country is supporting this move. It is the middle-aged and the elderly who have ideas of imperialism founded on the security of the dollar. Draft for service in the trenches only those men over 30 and there would be no war."

"The cruiser bill and the peace movement have created confusion in the international mind. A parallel in our history was when we sent missionaries to teach Chinese 'peace on earth, good will toward man' on the same boat that carried soldiers on a punitive expedition into China."

"What's the defense of the cruiser bill? Is it preparation for war? No, they say, we're not thinking of war. Is it to combat piracy? There is no justification for it. We carry such militaristic talk as beatification and glorification."

Whacks at United States Policy.
"Some picture the United States as a big-hearted nation engaged in uplifting the world. As a matter of fact, we generally do our uplifting by the nose of some one's neck and return from expeditions with our pockets full."

"At present there are disconcerting questions arising from the recent elections. The Protestant church is using its utmost to overcome this situation, which is not unlike that which preceded the world war. Should the church be barred from contributing its part to public opinion?"

"As is the practice at the Forum, Bishop McConnell at the close of his address invited questions from the audience. From a seat near a side aisle arose a tall, slender, slightly gray man with a bearing that suggested a former military training."

"Do you and your church," he asked, "believe that a patriotic spirit national defense and preparedness inconsistent with the teachings of Christianity, in whose name so many wars have been fought?"

"I'll not defend the wars of the Testament," Bishop McConnell replied. "As for modern history, all wars have been fought on the pretense of defense. I say that, from my point of view, the war system is contrary to Christian doctrine."

Believes in Free Speech.
"Bishop McConnell," asked a man, "don't you think the government should have the right in time of peace to investigate newspapers that promote war?"

"I don't agree," he answered, "that the government in time of war has a right to arrest critics of its policies. I believe in free speech in war time and in peace time. Democracy is a government by discussion. The newspapers and the pulpit have a right to express opinions at all times."

"Don't you think," came a question from another part of the house, "that the United States should build cruisers when England and France are enlarging their navies?"

"I think," replied the speaker, "that the United States should be willing to take some risks in the name of peace."

Churches Need Help.

"Can the Protestant church outlaw war?" asked a youth from the balcony.

"War can be outlawed, but not by the Protestant church alone," the bishop replied to this question, and that ended the meeting. "The church is using its influence to create a public opinion that will make war impossible. Earl Grey has declared that the world war question could have been settled with forty-eight hours more of diplomacy, but that public opinion had been excited into a demand for battle. President McKinley was forced by public opinion to declare war on Spain, after Spain had conceded all of America's demands."

GERMAN PLANES HUNT SHIPS IN FROZEN BALTIC

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The fire brigade was working overtime today rescuing ducks and swans imprisoned by ice on the Spree river and big lakes near the city. Berlin looks like a city of the dead, as nobody is on the streets. More than a hundred casualties from the cold have been sent to hospitals.

Reports from the Baltic coast reveal over a hundred ships are imprisoned and frozen up in the sea. The Luftwaffe is sending out scouting planes to report the vessels' positions to ice-breakers and ice-breaking battleships.

At present there are disconcerting questions arising from the recent elections. The Protestant church is using its utmost to overcome this situation, which is not unlike that which preceded the world war. Should the church be barred from contributing its part to public opinion?"

"As is the practice at the Forum, Bishop McConnell at the close of his address invited questions from the audience. From a seat near a side aisle arose a tall, slender, slightly gray man with a bearing that suggested a former military training."

"Do you and your church," he asked, "believe that a patriotic spirit national defense and preparedness inconsistent with the teachings of

AFGHAN INTRIGUE WITH RUSSIA AND PERSIA LIKELY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
TEHERAN, Persia, Feb. 10.—Big troop movements in Soviet Turkistan and north Afghanistan are reported from the Persia-Turkistan frontier. Whether Turcoman Reds or Russian was not specified. The air force is increased and movements are more frequent.

In order to augment the existing friendship for Moscow in north Afghanistan Soviet trade houses are making bigger purchases there of Afghan produce.

The commander in chief of the Persian eastern forces, who was in Baluchistan, has hastened back and meshed the road to Herat as a precautionary move.

Persia's sympathy is with Amannullah, and Moscow expects to see to his reinstatement. The Chinese story is being repeated in Afghanistan. A secret treaty of Amannullah with Russia is expected to be made public at the last moment.

Hunt Former Union Agent for Quis in Labor Killing

Police continued yesterday to search for Thomas Marshall, former union business agent, for questioning in connection with the shooting to death early Saturday of James A. Fee, 3249 Walnut street, business representative of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers. Questioning of officials of the union, whose quarters at 17 North La Salle street were raided by Capt. Charles G. McGurn of Fillmore street police, led to the search for Marshall. According to police, Fee and Marshall quarreled six months ago and Marshall withdrew from office as business agent.

Several other union leaders are to be questioned by Capt. McGurn today. Fee died on the way to a hospital without regaining consciousness.

TEXAS HIGHWAY, A MODEL ROAD, IS LITTLE USED

Few Autos Are Met on Long Journey.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Dallas, Tex., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—The Dallas end of the Texas state highway No. 15 is just 578.1 miles from Memphis by speedometer. It is one of the finest continuous drives for motor cars in the country, if distance is considered. It leads from the pine-clad rolling hills of north Texas through the Louisiana oil fields to the eastern prairies of that state, through the river bottoms of Arkansas, the Delta region of Mississippi, and finally into southwest Tennessee and Memphis.

By this route Chicago and Dallas are 1,883 miles apart, an easy journey four days' journey from here and away to juncos and vegetable gardens.

In the two days required for the journey from Memphis to Dallas an accurate count of all eastbound cars was kept, excepting cars encountered at or in the close vicinity of the cities and towns along the route and identified as purely local traffic. The results were: Forty-nine between Memphis and Monroe, La., and 77 between Monroe and Dallas. This figured about one car for each five miles traveled.

May Employ High Speed.
The fact that in an ordinary drive of 578 miles one meets 124 cars means the ultimate in speed may be employed. Texans assert that they make the trip from Dallas into Memphis in fifteen hours. There are few towns or cities which tend to slow up the traveler on this basis. Texas is quite as close to Chicago as Florida.

The routes through Mississippi and Arkansas, however, are not so fast and often present long delays in river crossings and washed out roads.

The highway is made up of considerable pavement, nearly 100 miles of which is west of Sharpsport. The balance is gravelled surface tended with scrupulous care and given a finish almost as smooth as a ballroom floor. As it is used little it is well maintained. Turn loose the cars which go to make up a Chicago week-end outpouring in summer and the chances are that it would be wrecked during a single invasion.

Land and People Improve.
From mid-Louisiana to Dallas the social aspect of the wayside bears a marked elevation in tone, even to the colored population, as compared with the denseness of the bottoms. The cotton gins disappear and sawmills spring up. New dwellings become common and the tumbledown, white-washed, weather-beaten shacks of Cottonland are scarce.

CHINESE

There still is a common architectural characteristic, however, in the construction of residences on piers and the outside fireplace chimney prevails. In many of the parishes of northwest Louisiana elaborate structures house training schools for colored children, most of the new and many quite magnificent.

A noticeable and gratifying feature of automobilism in the states traversed by this "unbeaten" route is the entire absence of the speed cop, as the species is known in the north. Traffic police are numerous both in cities and rural districts, but they appear to spend their time and energy aiding traffic rather than exploiting it.

CITY'S CHINESE MARK BEGINNING OF THE YEAR 4872

An atmosphere of festivity pervaded Chicago's Chinatown yesterday. Into the neighborhood orientals flocked from every section of the metropolitan district. Some even came from other cities. It was the first day of the Chinese's three day celebration of New Year, marking the beginning of the year 4872.

Dispatches from Chinese leaders in New York to Willie Lee, "mayor" of Chinatown, and to other Chicago leaders, brought word that the Nanking government has abandoned the ancient counting and adopted the occidental custom of reckoning time with the beginning of the Christian era. But this news appeared to have no effect upon the observation of their New Year's by the 4,800 or more Chinese resident here.

COUNT BETHLEN SEEKS TRIANON TREATY REVISION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 10.—

Asserting his government had not yet given up hope of seeing the treaty of Trianon revised, Count Bethlen for the second time has been forced to answer the rising tide of wrath in the

Hungarian parliament which is clamoring for the return of some land the allies took away in the peace treaty. "My ambition in the present regime is yet to see a revision of the treaty returning to us the land which is largely Hungarian," Count Bethlen said. "But this is not a propitious time to bring up the question before the world."

The land sought is in the northeast, east and southeast, and is now occupied by Czechoslovakia and Roumania, and 3,000,000 Hungarians form a large part of its population.

POLICE "ROOKIE" ON DRY RAID KILLS FATHER OF FOUR

Scuffle Follows Arrest of Dead Man's Wife.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—William Dettert, 31, a member of the Kenosha police department for two months, who early today shot and killed Anton Dudzinsky, 44, when a gang jumped on Dettert in Dudzinsky's saloon, collapsed at police headquarters last night, where he was being held pending an investigation.

A few minutes later, Coroner A. B. Schmidt walked into headquarters and announced there would be no inquest, that, in his opinion the shooting was accidental.

The killing of the saloon man caused a storm of discussion. He was, Mrs. Mary Dudzinsky, 46, is at home with their four children. She suffered a breakdown and is under the care of a physician.

"Rookie" Officer Tells Story. William Chendons, another "rookie" on the force who was with Dettert in the saloon which they were raiding, told his version of the incident to authorities.

Chendons declared that he and Dettert were assigned with Police Sergeant Max Kramer, to be the raiding squad Saturday night. The two new patrolmen were in plain clothes.

They had visited eight places during the evening, he said.

"This is his story: 'The Dudzinsky saloon was the sixth place. We left Sgt. Kramer and the police auto outside and walked into the saloon. We went into a rear room where Mrs. Dudzinsky followed with a glass full of white colored wine. She asked us where we wished to be served.

"Dettert said in the back room. When our two glasses had been poured, Dettert said: 'Mary, you're hooked' and flashed his badge. The woman screamed and a gang of seven men, standing at the bar, rushed to the door.

"One of the men, Pat Ryan, 35, made pass at Dettert and Dettert struck him on the jaw. Then Dettert pulled the gun and shouted, 'Stand back.'

Dudzinsky, the owner of the place, rushed over and grabbed Dettert's gun, when it went off and dropped to the floor. The others fled and Dud-

G. A. R. TO MOBILIZE FOR THE LAST TIME IN SPRINGFIELD, PLAN

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic may mobilize for the last time in Springfield, the home and burial place of Abraham Lincoln, if plans initiated today by State Senator Earl B. Seary are carried out.

Senator Seary announced that he will submit to the legislature this week a bill appropriating $20,000 to finance the reunion of the few remaining union soldiers here in 1929.

Local business men have agreed to subscribe further funds. Information received by the Springfield chamber of commerce is that the G. A. R. will come here if sufficient money is provided.

"The 1930 encampment is likely to be the last before the G. A. R. disbands," said Senator Seary. "It would be altogether fitting that the last march of its members should be in the city where Lincoln, their commander in chief, lived and is buried."

The killing of the saloon man caused a storm of discussion. He was, Mrs. Mary Dudzinsky, 46, is at home with their four children. She suffered a breakdown and is under the care of a physician.

"Rookie" Officer Tells Story. William Chendons, another "rookie" on the force who was with Dettert in the saloon which they were raiding, told his version of the incident to authorities.

Chendons declared that he and Dettert were assigned with Police Sergeant Max Kramer, to be the raiding squad Saturday night. The two new patrolmen were in plain clothes.

They had visited eight places during the evening, he said.

"The Dudzinsky saloon was the sixth place. We left Sgt. Kramer and the police auto outside and walked into the saloon. We went into a rear room where Mrs. Dudzinsky followed with a glass full of white colored wine. She asked us where we wished to be served.

EVANGELINE HITS AT GEN. BOOTH IN LETTER TO U. S.

Deplores Salvation Army Being in Court.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] LONDON, Feb. 10.—Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army in the United States, has sent a letter to the American Salvationists attacking the aged general, her brother, it reads:

"How heartbreaking to every true Salvationist is the spectacle presented by the unworthy actions of our general at the end of his long and hitherto honored career. I grieve for you even more than for myself.

"First, he has contravened those sacred principles of the Army embodied in the regulations which our founder gave us and which the general himself taught and enforced upon others during the course of half a century.

"Secondly, he has violated both the letter and the spirit of the teaching of the New Testament by hailing his brethren into the secular courts of law. I wish to God, my dear comrades, that I could have protected you and your fellow Salvationists the world over from the humiliation that this dragging into court of Salvationists by their general has involved us all in.

"This he has done despite entreaties, literally with tears, pleadings and prayers by his wisest, most able, and most responsible officers from all over the world. . . . that the general, in order to keep his hold upon the titular leadership of the Army when events had shown that he had lost the moral leadership, should aim a blow at the structure which our beloved founder erected has stricken and pained me beyond words. . . . the very remembrance of his action fills me with indescribable sorrow."

The letter closes with an exhortation to carry on the work declaring that the Army is unchanged, and it is signed, Your affectionate leader, Evangeline Booth.

Emergency Funds up to $300

Many of us find ourselves short of cash, at times, and frequently with obligations that demand immediate attention. A hundred and one emergencies arise which make additional funds absolutely necessary.

At such times it is wise to borrow what you need and rid yourself of financial worry. We will lend you the amount you require, hand you the cash usually the same day, and you may repay in small monthly payments.

Our New Rate NEARLY 1/3 LOWER

Under our reduced rate, loans payable in twenty equal monthly payments cost as follows:

$ 50 Average Monthly Cost	66c
$100 Average Monthly Cost	$1.32
$200 Average Monthly Cost	$2.63
$300 Average Monthly Cost	$3.94

Loans may be paid in full at any time. You pay ONLY for actual time you keep the money.

How We Make Loans

We make loans up to $300 on household goods, to men and their wives for domestic use. We do not require outside signers—signature of husband and wife all that is necessary. Employers, relatives, friends or tradespeople are not notified—no one need know.

RULE TODAY ON PETITION TANGLE IN COUNCIL RACE

Jarecki to Decide Who Hears Charges.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki is expected to rule today on whether the election board has power to sit in review on petitions of aldermanic candidates. Twenty aldermen charge the nominating papers of their respective opponents are loaded with spurious signatures.

Attorney Urban Lavery, formerly counsel for the board but now representing some of the complaining aldermen, insists that the election commissioners have the right to look over the petitions. Charles Center Case, attorney for the board, declares the board is without such authority.

Battles Become Heated.

In the meantime some of the ward battles have become hot enough to throw off smoke, a sign that the last two weeks of the campaign are drawing near.

Ald. George Self (35th), who has eight opponents, charged yesterday that the Thompson-Crowe-Duff alliance in the ward is after his scalp in reprisal for the hat cut he helped give them last April. Self's managers declare he was the figure who broke up the so-called "Ike and Mike" combination in the ward. Michael Feinberg, a Crowe adherent, was candidate against Herbert Juul, Densette, for Republican ward committeeman. Isaac A. Doff was candidate against Neal T. Kelley for Democratic ward committeeman. Ald. Self's managers declare that both successful campaigns for Juul and Kelley were conducted from Self's office.

Thompson Backing Mooney.

Ald. George M. Maypole, who has four opponents in the 23rd, reported that the Thompson-Crowe forces are backing Thomas J. Mooney as their candidate. Ex-Sheriff Charles E. Graydon, the Republican ward committeeman, is off on a holiday, leaving his former chauffeur in charge, according to Ald. Maypole, who declares that, although Graydon promised neutrality in the nonpartisan aldermanic election, the old Crowe-Thompson machinery, in his absence, is being lined up for Mooney.

Ald. John Toman, in the 23d, who is faced with three opponents, yesterday was given endorsements from eleven leagues, clubs and associations in his ward, including the Mercier club.

Ald. Thomas F. Byrne, who has three opponents in the 15th, was notified that a house to house canvass in his behalf is being made by the South Hamlin Property Owners' association, which has a membership of 600 families.

Death for 5, Prison for 16 in Plot to Kill Kemal

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The trial of 21 men, charged with plotting to overthrow the Turkish government and the death of Mustafa Kemal, ended today with five of the accused being sentenced to death. Sixteen were given various terms of imprisonment and the others acquitted. The trial has been in progress since Jan. 29.

Beat Jewel Salesman, but He Fails Robbery

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 10.—(AP)—By shipping jewels valued at $100,000 to Chicago, Max Henkin, New York gem salesman, frustrated two bandits who accosted him in a corridor of a hotel here, forced him into his room, searched and beat him when they failed to find the gems. They desisted only when they found the express receipt for the shipment. Henkin continued his journey to Chicago.

Georgian design sofa, filling entirely of hair, one long down-filled cushion; upholstered in choice of red or soft green damask, $195.

Bedroom group in maple—the bed, $36; vanity or dresser, $58.

Small upholstered chair for the bedroom, done in colored chintz, some glazed chintz, $16.50.

Queen Anne style coffee table, entirely of walnut; hand made—a very fine piece of furniture. Rosewood inlay around edge. $36.

These pieces have just been selected at random. They are typical of the values throughout—values difficult, we believe, to duplicate when they are tested point for point on style, quality and price of furniture.

China and Glass - Rugs - Curtains and Draperies -- a Fine Choice!

English Bone China At Sale Prices Royal Worcester, Cauldon Coalport and Minton

That they are here in the Semi-Annual Sales—much below usual in price—is the significant thing. This stresses how thoroughly worth-while such sales held here are.

Here, too, are exquisite patterns in Morgan Belleek china—that deep, ivory-toned ware whose coloring and design is so immensely effective.

Crystal Glass Stemware Lowered in Price For This Sale

Sherbet glasses, goblets in rock crystal cuttings, whose sparkling patterns stand out in beautiful relief. The shapes have slender lines, emphasizing again the simplicity of design which is essential to table appointments in good taste.

Teziak Rugs

Ancient Motifs
Inspire Their Designs

No other so-called modern Oriental rug achieves a richer effect than the Teziaks—so carefully are the yarns chosen, so well dyed, so knowingly blended and woven to make these rugs.

Weavers entrusted with their making know well the manner of design which has endured through the centuries and follow this design. The well-known Oriental colors—reds and blues are prominent in the rugs.

In the Semi-Annual Sale
9x12-Foot Size Is $195
6x9-Foot Size Is $97.50

This is but one group of the hundreds in this Semi-Annual Sale. Linoleums, domestic carpetings, and Oriental rugs—all share in the substantial reductions in these Semi-Annual Sales.

ARISTOCRATIC AND DEMOCRATIC SYSTEMS.

The relations of the British and American governments will be dictated in a measure by the comparative status of the British and American peoples. There is reason to believe that the higher caste English regard the material success of the American democracy with its valid doctrine of man equality as inimical. So long as the aristocratic system of Great Britain could present an economic justification the less favored classes could be satisfied. The social system had tradition and discipline to make it acceptable. So long as Great Britain was the center of a cohesive empire, the ruler of the sea, the dominant trader and banker, inequalities in the enjoyment of the profits thereof and of opportunity could be checked out with the philosophy that nowhere else could an Englishman of any particular class be better off.

Aristocracy could be justified by its accounts and the English caste system could stand comparison. American had entered the picture. It was regarded, if at all, as big, crude, and inferior. The English thought themselves well off throughout their whole structure when they looked at France, Italy, Germany, Scandinavia and Russia. They looked in these directions and the English laborer knew he was in better position than the continental laborer and the English farmer knew he was far above the continental peasant.

The British were the overlords of inferior peoples. The drumbeat went continuously around the world and the sun never set on the flag. Any Briton was the particular ward of a discriminating Providence and the consciousness of this facing the world in the brightest British days was sufficient to keep the social and economic distinctions at home endurable if not satisfactory.

The people of Great Britain were freer and better off than the people under any other monarchy, and the democracy of the United States was negligible. It had not intruded itself on European attention.

The comparison even in Europe does not stand up now. The people of Germany have substituted a republic for a monarchy. They are working with a brighter economic future than the British. Many of the British fear or feel that they are in worse condition than many of the other peoples of Europe and that they are not being shown anything for the future.

What has happened by contrast in the United States is now revealed and it is understood. The higher caste British perceive it as a danger to their system which Americans regard as anarchistic. Adversity always has been a danger to class distinctions and doctrines of social superiority and inferiority. The bitter tone of British labor is reflected in political utterance and action reveals discontent and anger. It is against aristocratic government, which is charged with responsibility for the unfortunate change in British conditions in the one and the unfortunate conditions in the other were direct consequences. There is a conflict which is as perceptible as the earlier one between the German and the British orders of society.

It is not at all certain that the truly democratic and the aristocratic systems can continue to exist together in the modern world. The dictatorships in Europe may be the last stand of the old order. They may represent the form which much of Europe must have and still be forms of inferiority. Americans may turn back to monarchy, improbable as that seems now. Aristocracy may make good in Great Britain. It may fail. The American idea may travel back and they may be asserted. Whatever the outcome, it is apparent that these forces at home will direct much of the attitude of Great Britain and the United States to each other.

NATIONAL ORIGINS.

The indications are that the national origins basis of immigration restriction is to go into effect in July. Twice the operation of the new quota laws has been postponed. The delays are attributed to the difficulty of determining the national origins of the early settlers of this country and to the opposition of alien groups which resisted further restrictions on the number of immigrants from their native lands.

Now the preliminary statistical studies have been completed and, though the alien-minded are still active, the end of the session is approaching and it is believed unlikely that time remains in which to write another postponement into law. The setback which is in prospect for the alien groups will be wholesome. The immigration policies of this country for years were shaped not with an eye to the welfare of the United States but with an eye to the votes of the nation's newest citizens who had not yet learned to think of themselves as Americans. The adoption of the national origins quotas may be more important as an affirmation of American-mindedness than for the changes which will ensue in the quotas.

NEWS DRIFT.

Foundations in England are giving way, says the London Spectator; gas pipes and water mains are upheaving; Lincoln cathedral, also Wells, are trembling on their piling, and country homes, not to say families, are falling down. Vibration is the cause. The ground trembles under the tread of traffic. England is patched and filled, crowned and repelled like an old set of teeth; now the roots are giving way. England is rattling down in pieces. Compulsory pneumatic "tyres" are suggested, and the great trucks may be required to obey. But street cars have never yet been rubber tired.

The street car bangs along in England as in America, an ancient relic of the awkward age among modern vehicles. If one-tenth of the energy used in building silence and luxury into automobiles had been spent on noiseless street cars the traction business today might be less depressing. When designers will put pleasure into street car riding, when they will make silence and smooth going, the trip downtown will be less a test of nerve and human endurance, and the buildings on the way will not rattle down.

But men have many ways of going somewhere. Some are as old as two feet, others have more novelty. The Pennsylvania system is reaching out for bus lines and for air routes, and reports are current that steamship lines will soon be added to its service. This is the modern attitude, and when railroad men and others once acquire it a new flexibility of movement and progress will be forthcoming. Men in the transportation business will use vehicles best suited to the concrete need. Men limited to the railroad business are likely to be jealous of new means of travel. But the Pennsylvania railroad is going into transportation business.

The air mail to Panama has begun its schedule with Lindbergh's flight to the Canal Zone. Over Cuba and Honduras, past Guatemala, over Nicaragua and Costa Rica to David, Panama, the winged Mercury with a Swedish name flew, and Panama moved three or four days nearer, to Miami. To make closer synthesis of railroad, automobile, airplane, and water transportation will be America's transportation problem of the future.

Five years ago the Transvaal recommended an air route to Panama. Since then Lindbergh has flown the Atlantic. Nicaragua has boiled up and down again. Mexico has lost a president elect by assassination. And now in Guatemala and Honduras revolt simmers and smolders. But American influence, no doubt, stays many a revolution in the Latin countries. A would-be dictator usually will think twice before starting trouble that the United States will frown.

Revolts have many characters among the Latin countries. Some are led by adventurers. Some are led by disgruntled politicians or self-seeking concessionaires. Some are irrational riots and restlessness. Others are justified rebellions against cruel tyranny and harsh labor laws. The restraining influence of the United States will be beneficial so long as it remains intelligent. For peace, but not for peace at any price, should be our influence in Latin America. Air service south to Panama will assist intelligent statesmanship.

They are catching colic in Guatemala. Ten have been arrested in the west of the little state. Other rebellions ones are cornered elsewhere. Revolt rides high, but the wave breaks on the rocks of government. Guatemala, about the size of Louisiana, shakes and soon no doubt will come to rest again.

This tragic paradise of Central America, as Carleton Beals calls it, has four divisions: the banana country, the coffee country, the Indian country, and Peten, where the chewing gum and rubber grows. They are semi-autonomous parts of the small state, and in Peten the contract labor camps are notorious for cruelty and disease. In the coffee uplands on the eastern coast life is better, and even the coffee peon there is happy compared with the laborers of the west.

Guatemala, Costa Rica, Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador, Panama; to Americans they sound more like cigar wrappers than nations. Air transportation will acquaint Americans, north and south, with each other's faults and virtues. Peace lies most often in human acquaintance.

Editorial of the Day

THE HOT DOG CROWD.

[New York World.]

Hot dogs to the number of 380 million were eaten in the United States last year, according to the Packers and Sausage Manufacturers' association, or nearly eight for every man, woman and child. Thus one is almost forced to believe that in spite of those who cherish illusions about turkey, hominy and other oriental delicacies, the national food of this country is the hot dog, an imported product. At first glance this is gloomy news. For the hot dog, whatever its virtues, is surely not elegant, and a nation which has a predilection for it seems somewhat lacking in taste. But after you think about it a while you realize that things are not quite so bad as they appear. For the hot dog is hardly any American's first choice in food. It belongs, rather, in the category of his second choice: it is eaten when he is unable to obtain the things that he likes better. In this category of second choice it no doubt heads the list; it has superseded the sandwich, the bag of popcorn, the hockey-pole block and the other things which a generation ago enabled us to stifle hunger under emergency conditions. We eat it at baseball games, where we take what we can get, passing a dime down the row from hand to hand; but we do not eat it at a banquet to Babe Ruth. We eat it on a roadside, sitting on the running board, but we do not eat it at a roadside. We eat it on the Coney Island boardwalk, but we do not eat it at Feltman's.

Bearing this point in mind, we can concede that the hot dog has much to be said for it. It beats a sandwich all hollow, as it has some juice in it and does not choke you when you try to swallow it. It beats popcorn, popcorn and such things, as you can actually get your teeth into it and chew a while. And it beats hockey-pole, ice cream cones, and such things, at least so far as men are concerned, because men for some reason have an aversion to sweets. And, finally, lying between two halves of a split roll, it is gone when it is gone, and you do not have to call in the fire department to get your fingers washed. As for us, we are in favor of it, and rejoice that we have lived to see the day when it is dispensed from edifices built in the image of Greek temples.

LITTLE-NEW UNDER SUN.

Nearly two hundred years intervened between a letter on sleep written by Benjamin Franklin and an article on sleep written by Dr. George Dorsey. Read them and see how little there is new under the sun. The brand new is Dr. Dorsey's article relates to the motor and skin sensation and sleep. This he bases on very up-to-the-minute work by Johnson, done at the Mellon institute.

Prof. George Dorsey: "Sleep is a suspension of all sensory motor activities whereby during waking hours we sense our environment and keep in touch with it. It turns out during the night. The blankets weigh me down. I kick the blankets off. I awake and I may try to find a cooler room or an electric fan." He quotes Johnson as saying: "We move about in bed on an average of once in four minutes. We move when our muscles become tired of one position or some sensation of discomfort sent in by muscles or skin nerves registers on the switchboard."

Benjamin Franklin: "Fidgetiness during sleep is occasioned by uneasiness of the skin. One important cause of insomnia or bad dreams is having the air around the body too hot. One preventive is to use lighter bed clothing. When I am sleeping poorly, or have bad dreams, I get up and beat the pillow. I shake the bed clothing. If I cannot rest well I leave the bed and get into a fresh and cool bed. Another method to be used is to get out of bed and throw the bed clothes back for a few seconds. This should be done twenty times."

In the main, this relates to what Dorsey and Johnson term the sensory activities, and particularly those of the skin. Now, let's put Franklin back on the stand and have him testify as to motor activities. On this point, Franklin advises that a person should get up and position in bed, that he get up and beat his pillow and move the bed clothing, and, sometimes, that he change to another bed.

Conations which come from digestive organs is another point well covered by Dorsey. Again Franklin is put on the witness stand. "Indolence with full stomachs occasions nightmares. Restless nights follow hearty suppers and late dinners. A full supper may not be bad if we have not dined."

LET HIM TALK WORRY. H. P. writes: My husband has an idea that because his father and other members of his family on his father's side have died of cancer, he will have it also. He lives very sensibly, eats the right kind of food, vegetables and fruits every day. Is there anything special he should or should not eat to take all possible precautions against cancer?

REPLY. No. Let him live as he does, avoiding, worry. Should he develop any chronic illness or other serious condition, he should have them attended to.

RETURNED EAR DRUMS. J. E. H. writes: What are the symptoms of a ruptured ear drum? Considerable deafness in the affected ear.

REPLY. F. S. writes: Could you tell me if washing the hair in kerosene oil and then massaging with castor oil is good for curing dandruff or falling hair?

REPLY. Perhaps the washing and rubbing would be of service. Kerosene and castor oil of themselves would not.

REPLY. NO CURE TO REALITY. E. C. V. writes: Is it dangerous to the health to step the sweating of the feet?

REPLY. No.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

JUNIOR HIGH LUNCH PERIOD. Chicago, Feb. 8.—(Friend of the People.)—Will you please ask the proper authorities why the children at the Thomas Kelly Junior High school are forced to remain inside of the building during the noon hour and are only permitted to leave if a father or mother makes request of the principal to permit a boy or girl to come home for lunch? Is there any reason for this or have the school authorities the right to do as they please?

P. J. The time allotted for luncheon in the junior high schools is one-half hour. Most of the pupils either bring their luncheons or purchase them at cost in the school cafeteria. In some cases where pupils live near the school they are allowed to go home for luncheon if the father or mother makes such request of the principal. Such a regulation reduces tardiness at classes to a minimum and also insures wholesome supervision of the boys and girls during school hours. I may add that this supervision is welcomed and approved by the mothers and fathers. If the writer of the questions quoted above has children that she desires to come home for luncheon, she can secure this permission from the school principal.

JOSEPH P. GONNELLY, District Superintendent in Charge of Junior High Schools.

WED WITHOUT WITNESSES. Chicago, Feb. 6.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—Is a marriage ceremony legal that was performed before a judge, who required no witnesses, and was signed and used no official stamp or seal of any kind?

B. J. It would be valid as far as the facts stated are concerned.

TRIBE LAW DEPARTMENT. SIDEWALK OBSTRUCTIONS. Chicago, Feb. 6.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—Will you please quote Chicago city ordinance with reference to the blocking of sidewalks by obstacles in such a manner as to impede progress, interfere with pedestrians, etc.

C. E. W. No street, alley or sidewalk shall be used for the storage of personal property, goods, wares or merchandise of any kind or description whatever. If any person shall place or cause to be placed in or upon any street, alley or sidewalk any barrel, box, hogshead, crate, package or other obstruction of any kind or description whatever, and shall suffer the same to remain thereon longer than is prescribed in the preceding section, he shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $10 for each offense. CHARGE ACCOUNT.

We pay for dreams in waking out of them. I wonder, now . . . the price is rather high. Even for a glowing, almost perfect gem. Within a memory that may not die. There is left still the warmth of this red fire. These books, this chair, picture upon the wall. Music to half restore a dead desire. These things remain with me; but these are all. The dream being done, comfort is small in only. This empty room, the snow outside, the snore Of being so much more than ever lonely. Though in its brief time it was gay and fair, Only love, a flower without root or stem . . . We pay for dreams in waking out of them.

SHERIDA STUBBS.

It's Our Story and We'll Stick to It.

In one way we got off lighter than the Atlantic Monthly. It started to publish some Lincoln letters, or alleged Lincoln letters, or to the best of deponent's knowledge Lincoln letters and so many people called them so many names that they quit. But we printed our story of the Gettysburg address in one installment, so at least we didn't have to quit. Otherwise, we and the Atlantic Monthly are brothers in sorrow. Up to the time of going to press last night we've been called a liar by so many Line kibitzers because we said Lincoln wrote the Gettysburg address on a postcard that we feel like Darwin in Tennessee. It wasn't, it seems, written on a postcard at all. It was on an old envelope, it was on a piece of foolscap, it was on the wrapping of a package of books, it was on a cardboard, it was on a galley proof, it wasn't written on anything. It was in fact, written on so many things, where it was written on anything at all, that another point in our story must also be revised. Lincoln didn't take it out of his pocket. He took—he must have taken it out of a packing box the height of the Woolworth Tower and the width and length of Soldiers' field. It getting very involved. Maybe we'd better stick to our postcard theory, even if postcards weren't invented then. Anyhow, which one of you critics who've written us were there when Lincoln didn't write that speech on the postcard?

We'd Have More Confidence in

Ours if He'd Quit Putting Kerosene in the Real Imported Scotch. (From Dinner Long and Short, a new book by A. H. Adair.)

You should, of course, have confidence in your wine merchant, into whose hands you stand, to a large extent, put yourself. He, acquainted with your tastes and with your pocket, will suggest to you this or that, a few dozens of fine vintage clarets, of rich Burgundies and hocks, and then you will want a supply of good, humble, but honest wines to drink on ordinary occasions; for it is unnecessary to drink vintage wines every day.

The Finch-Harrington Murder—

A Pretty Juicy Case. When Finch, the butler, returned home at 6:30 A. M., he was somewhat disturbed to find J. Harrington-Harrington hanging from the lamp post in front of his residence. Thinking that the least said is soonest mended, he went to the door and called out, "Finch, where's your head and walked into the house, where he found two strange men lying dead on the living room table. This aroused his suspicions and he called the police. The police found that the murdered man left no news except a calling card and a brief note saying that he would be back after lunch. Hulda, the maid, testified that when she served tea at 2:30 that afternoon, she had noticed a strange man hitting Mr. Harrington over the head several times with a baseball bat, but that he had not been hurt because this was her afternoon off. Further testimony by Charlie, the cook, disclosed that Finch had remarked to him only the day before that it certainly was funny the number of bodies there were lying about the house. Tillie, the bootlegger's daughter, revealed that Mr. and Mrs. Harrington had been quarreling the day before. After a thorough search of the house, Mrs. Harrington was found up and struggling to death; so the police discarded this clue and began cross-questioning Robert, the footman, who had a shifty look in his eyes, but vigorously asserted that his was a heart of gold. After a close examination of the daggers, the body and the two sawed-off shotguns, the police went into a huddle and concluded that there had been foul play.

Questions: (1) How in the world did they guess that? (2) Who killed cock-robin? (3) What time is it? HERB LOCK.

Hey! Strike Up the Band,

Here Comes a Sailor. R.H.L. As usual, Globe and Anker is all wet. In the first place, there are no gentlemenly marines. If they were gentlemen they couldn't be marines. In the second place, if a gob started that row, a gob would finish it. And I said a gob; and in the third place, Globe and Anker is a marine and no marine could possibly be right under any circumstances. Hoping you are the same, I am, SMOOGE'S MAC.

SEASON'S GREETINGS.

Legniappe.

THIS TO THAT. Let's coming. . . Just saw Mae West's "Diamond Lil" Saturday night. When did we have so much fun in the theater? Honestly, we can't remember. . . Gov. Bilbo of Mississippi is going to ride in the Inaugural Parade surrounded by his staff of eighty colonels. The governor is not taking any chances with the damnyanks. . . Senator Smoot wants against booting the tariff too high. Pipe down, Smoot, twenty million people can't be wrong. . . We didn't look to see but it's dollars to doughnuts there'll be another cold wave tonight. Whatever because of that fellow who used to be always saying "Winters haint what they uster be?"

WE HEARD A NEW AL SMITH story the other day. New to us, anyhow, so pipe down! It seems when Al was out here, a girl reporter on one of the evening rags was told to get an interview with him on his pronunciation of radio. "Well, I'll tell you," said the governor, "down on the east side, where I was born and raised, they said radio, so it's good enough for me."

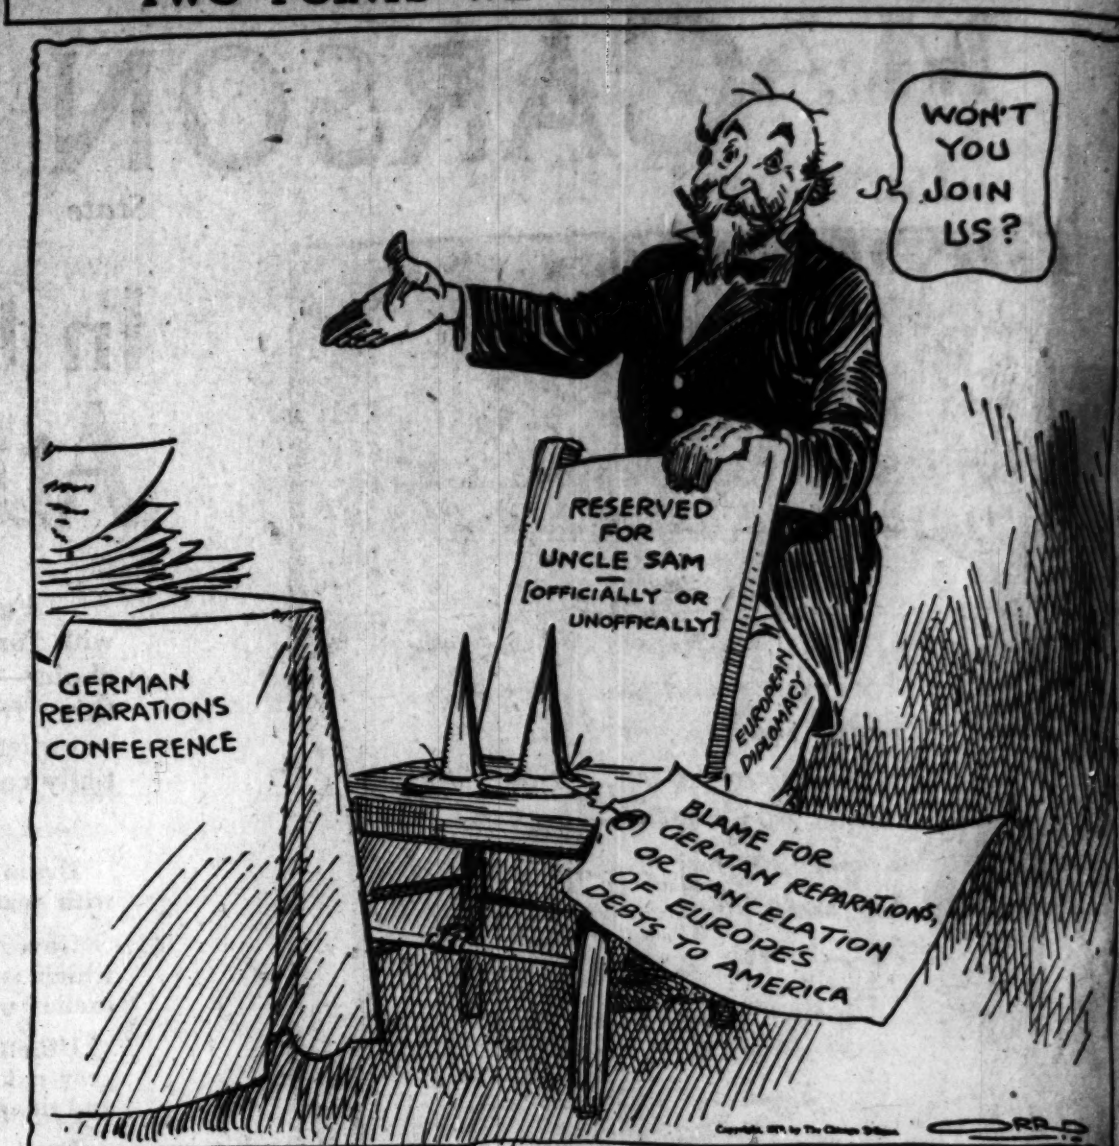

"But, Governor," said the girl reporter, hesitatingly, "we didn't have radio then." "Well, if we had had them," said Al firmly, "they would have said radio, so it's good enough for me."

COL. STEWART and John D. Jr. of course have a perfect right to argue the interest of one and all to the fever point, but after all there was a President elected last fall who will take office on the fourth of next month. We should endeavor to keep that in mind and we respectfully suggest that on March 4 Mr. Stewart and Mr. Rockefeller go out and catch a few sailfish and quit hogging the front page.

TOMORROW'S holiday and wye trying to get in a proper mood for the occasion. But we heard all the speeches made by Al and Mr. Hoover and we can't figure out now whether Lincoln was a Democrat or a Republican.

TWO POINTS WE MUSTN'T OVERLOOK

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 11, 1864.

CINCINNATI.—The Commercial says: "We have authentic information for saying that under no circumstances will Gen. Grant be a candidate for the presidency, or permit his name to come before a national convention for such purpose. If his positive declaration of the honor will prevent it, and so far as his opinions are known, he is in favor of the nomination and re-election of President Lincoln."

WASHINGTON.—The amendment to the constitution proposed by the joint resolution reported as a substitute from the judiciary committee by Senator Trumbull is as follows: "Article 13, section 1.—Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude except as punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

CHICAGO.—John B. Hall and Miss Julia E. Spencer were married on Feb. 9 by the Rev. W. W. Evans. A. A. Kendrick of Chicago and Miss Mary Jewett of Racine, Wis., were married in the latter city on Feb. 2 by the Rev. J. A. Smith of Chicago.

CHICAGO.—A dinner was given for Prof. Louis Agassiz, the noted naturalist, by E. W. Blatchford, Esq., president of the Chicago Academy of Sciences.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Lucy Perkins, mother of George W. Perkins and David W. Perkins, died on Feb. 9 at the age of 55.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 11, 1890.

MANILA.—American forces made a combined attack on Calocan and reduced it in short order. Gen. Otis reported to Washington: "Insurgents collected in considerable force between Manila and Calocan, where Aguinaldo is reported to be, and threatened an attack and uprising in the city. Swung the left of McArthur's division into Calocan, driving the enemy east."

PARIS.—The chamber of deputies passed the Dreyfus trial revision bill, sponsored by M. Dupuy, by 322 to 232. Excited crowds thronged the streets after the action. In a speech M. Queyran de Beurepaire declared that unless the Dreyfus scandal was brought to an end it would entail either a civil or a foreign war.

NEW YORK.—Harry Cornish and Roland Burnham Molliquet were the winners today at the Inaugural Golf tournament. Kate J. Adams, who was killed by poison which had been sent through the mails to Cornish, "I am absolutely innocent!" was the dramatic exclamation of young Molliquet when asked on the stand if he was innocent of the poisoning of Mrs. Adams.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 11, 1919.

BUTTE.—Half a dozen machine guns commanded the approaches to the mines of this district tonight and military authorities announced that tomorrow they will be "rough" with the strikers and I. W. W. who attempt picketing. Small squads of regulars patrolled the downtown streets and the residential sections in which miners live. Mining operations are practically suspended and other workmen than miners are joining the strikers. It was estimated 15,000 men were idle.

SEATTLE.—Seattle's general strike, the first of its kind ever attempted in the United States, will end officially at noon tomorrow (Feb. 11). Decision to call off the strike was reached by the general committee representing all the locals on strike after a four hour session.

WASHINGTON.—By a vote of 55 to 23, one less than the two-thirds majority required for passage, the senate today rejected the resolution to submit the constitutional amendment on woman's suffrage to the states for ratification.

CHICAGO.—Holdup men killed their seventh victim since Jan. 1 last night when John Takich, an Austrian, 34 years old, was shot to death by four robbers in a rear flat at 260 West 24th place.

WASHINGTON.—The Victory Liberty loan to be offered to the American people in April will be for approximately $5,000,000,000 and will consist of short term bonds providing a comparatively high return to the investor, it was indicated tonight by Secretary of the Treasury Glass.

ENGLAND AND THE MARKET

CRASH.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—I should be interested to know on what theory you selected for your headline of yesterday "Slump Blamed on England." This (the Tribune), in common with most other newspapers, has been pointing out for a long time the inflated condition of the stock market and predicting a crash. Mr. McCutcheon's cartoon states that slumps come every spring, but don't believe the effect of your headline will be to make every reckless plunger who got caught in the drop, feel—not that he was paying the price of his folly—but that five men entered a shoe store and Harrison street and Cleveland avenue, claiming they were from the water department. Their work, they said, was to check the water outlets in the building and the correspondent objected that so many men were used for the job.

WATER BUREAU INSPECTORS. Chicago, Feb. 6.—In the Voice of the People of Jan. 4 a contributor wrote that five men entered a shoe store and Harrison street and Cleveland avenue, claiming they were from the water department. Their work, they said, was to check the water outlets in the building and the correspondent objected that so many men were used for the job.

THE PROPRIETOR of the shoe store states that there were five men and that these men checked the premises as to the size of the room, and the size of the building, and also the number of water outlets, bathtubs, etc.

We have made a thorough investigation of this matter and find that these men were in no way connected with the Chicago water department.

It may be that they were working in connection with the revaluation of Chicago real estate.

LOREN D. GATTON, City Engineer.

NORTH RIVERIDE AND ITS WATER.

North Riverside, Ill., Feb. 7.—I noticed a letter in your column from North Riverside in which the writer says: "We have good water—when we have it." It is certain the writer cannot have lived long in North Riverside or he would never claim the water we get from Berwyn is good. Berwyn buys its water from Chicago and sells it to North Riverside. The water is not only full of rotten chlorine taste that makes so many people sick at the stomach but it also has a lot of mud and sand that leaves sediment wherever any bulk of it stands for any length of time. It isn't what I call good water by a long shot.

ADVERTISING FROM AIRPLANES.

Evansville, Ill., Feb. 4.—By day its hollow cone resounding with megaphone announcements from an airplane of a certain commercial commodity, and by night across Venus, Jupiter, and the constellations appears a heavy red ball which blazes forth the name of its auto. It is disgusting. Cannot the state of money making lunacy, which is just beginning, be stopped?

YANKEE 'MONEY' DOCTOR' TACKLES CHINA'S FINANCE

Kemmerer Hired to End
Medieval System.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]
SHANGHAI, Feb. 10.—Efforts of the Chinese government over a quarter of a century to modernize its currency and establish an efficient domestic fiscal system as well as a refund of the foreign indebtedness received a fresh impetus today. Dr. Edwin Walter Kemmerer of Princeton university, known as "the money doctor and friend of the gold standard," who arrived here yesterday, prepared to take up his duties as technical adviser to the nationalist government's finance ministry.
Dr. Kemmerer is accompanied by a staff of sixteen currency, tariff, economic, railway, and financial experts, comprising one of the most formidable commissions ever sent abroad by the United States.
Dr. Kemmerer immediately conferred with T. Y. Soong, minister of finance; Sun Fo, minister of railways; and Dr. C. T. Wang, foreign minister.
Has No Advance Plans.
Asked regarding his plans, Dr. Kemmerer said: "I have come to China with eyes and ears open and mouth shut for the purpose of serving in a technical and advisory capacity to the Chinese government."
Apparently due to the fear of arousing international opposition, which has always blocked China's previous efforts at financial reform, the Chinese officials are also uncommunicative regarding future plans. However, the fact that the Nationalist government has appropriated the sum of $2,000,000 to cover the expenses of the Kemmer mission is indicative of its serious intention to abolish its medieval system of finance and modernize the currency, as well as pave the way for the reestablishment of credit. The government hopes to obtain loans on the American market.

U. S. Architect Also Called.

Henry Murphy, New York architect, also arrived today for the purpose of assisting the national government in the planning of new capital buildings at Nanking. Ernest Payson Goodrich, consulting engineer, from Decatur, Ill., and New York, who has been engaged to develop Canton harbor, will arrive next month.

China's wholesale employment of American advisers is arousing the interest of the British, the Japanese, the Russians, and the French, who have heretofore considered China as their own particular sphere.

POKER LUMBERJACK KILLED.

Rhinelander, Wis., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—John Moser, a veteran woodsman, was killed while loading logs at a lumber camp near Boulder Junction. A chain slipped and he was crushed between two timbers. Moser was one of the few remaining old time lumberjacks.

ROUMANIA PARTY UNITY STARTS RECONSTRUCTION

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Feb. 10.—The remnants of the once all-powerful liberal party joined the ruling peasant party as parliament unanimously voted approval of a $72,000,000 stabilization and reconstruction loan, which promises to put Roumania financially on its feet for the first time since the war.

Twenty-five million dollars is set aside in the National bank to stabilize the lei at about its present value; $35,000,000 will be spent in reconstructing the railroads, whose rolling stock has been rotting and rusting under the graft and mismanagement of the post-war period, and the remainder will be used to put the state monopolies on a business basis.

The Swedish match trust, which was kept out of Roumania for years by the liberal policy of excluding foreign capital, has received from parliament the match monopoly.

FOREIGN FOOD IN ENGLAND POINTS TO FARM DECAY

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(Simultaneously with Great Britain's increasing population the home grown food supply is dwindling to such a startling extent that four out of every five loaves of bread are made from foreign wheat, according to a ministry of agriculture report.

Due to the conversion of arable land into pasturage, 1,702,980 acres of wheat land in 1927 are now reduced to 1,461,441 acres. The number of cattle, sheep and pigs show a marked decline in 1928, with the result that America again is to become the largest source of supply, although Canada still leads the flour and meal supply.

"Agriculture probably never occupied such a disastrous position as today, nor is there any tangible reason for it," declared Prof. James Long, noted agriculturist. "It is possible largely to increase our crops. What would happen in case of a future war? The public should realize the situation is not only critical but dangerous."

"I smoke a Lucky instead of eating sweets."

Grace M. Hay Drummond Hay
Lady Grace Drummond Hay, only woman passenger on the Graf Zeppelin.

"The fact that we were not permitted to smoke from the time the Graf Zeppelin left Friedrichshafen until we landed at Lakehurst only increased my appetite for a Lucky Strike. Oh, how good that first one tasted! I'm really keen for Lucky Strike—the toasted flavor is delightful. I smoke a Lucky instead of eating sweets—that's what many men have been doing for years. I think it high time we women smoked Luckies and kept our figures trim."

GRACE M. HAY DRUMMOND HAY

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

The Tobey Furniture Company

ESTABLISHED 1896

Michigan Avenue at Lake Street

A Fine Bedroom Group in The Semi-Annual Sale

The Queen Anne style is seen at its best in this group from the hand of one of America's most brilliant designers. Both in his spirited line and in his fine blending of the warm brown walnut colors with the antique gold carving and Chinois lacquer, he exhibits a splendid understanding of the period.

The 8 pieces complete, $2,150; regularly $3,550

CAPPER HOPES TO PUT TEETH IN KELLOGG PACT

Wants U. S. Boycott on Violator.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—The first legislative move to put teeth in the Kellogg anti-war pact will be initiated tomorrow by Senator Arthur Capper (Rep., Kas.). According to an announcement made by the senator tonight, he will offer a resolution in the senate providing that the United States shall institute an economic boycott against any signatory nation violating the treaty by going to war.
Specifically the Capper resolution would invest the President with authority to issue a proclamation forbidding the export of munitions of war to any government violating the pact. Such a move would approximate the boycott provisions of the league of nations covenant.
Paragraph of the Treaty.
The pertinent paragraph in the resolution reads as follows:
"That whenever the President determines and by proclamation declares that any country has violated the multilateral treaty for the renunciation of war, it shall be unlawful, unless otherwise provided by act of congress or by proclamation of the President, to export to such country arms, munitions, implements of war or other articles for use in war until the President shall by proclamation declare that such violation no longer continues."
Will Meet Opposition.
Senator Capper's resolution is certain to run into opposition in congress, as all attempts thus far to enact legislation banning munitions shipments to nations at war have failed of passage.

"My purpose," Mr. Capper said in making his resolution public, "is to have the United States go on record in favor of refusing to aid any nation signatory to the multilateral treaty which breaks it directly or indirectly by violating the treaty."
Blast Ruins $75,000 Tug;
$80,000 Damage to Scow
Inwood, N. Y., Feb. 10.—(AP)—An explosion aboard tug 27 of the Standard Oil company at the Socony docks here today set fire to a gasoline scow which exploded, breaking windows in adjoining buildings and setting fire to the docks. Only one person, the tug fireman, was injured. The tug was destroyed, with a loss of $75,000; the scow was damaged to the extent of $80,000. Damage to the docks and adjacent buildings was $15,000.

3 YEAR PRISON TERM COST OF ELECTION BET
Dallas, Tex., Feb. 10.—(AP)—An election bet has cost Ben C. Richards Jr., Dallas politician, three years' imprisonment. He was found guilty of forgery and sentenced by a jury after five hours' deliberation.
Richards was charged with having forged an endorsement to one of two $1,000 cashiers' checks put up as an election wager. When V. Ray Adams, one of the winning bettors, found the money had been paid to the wrong man he killed Orville Mathews, banker, who acted as stakeholder. His trial for murder resulted in a mistrial. A. A. Crabb, confessed "tool" of Richards in the alleged conspiracy, also will be tried for forgery. He testified against Richards in the present trial.

Title Awards in Bavaria Illegal, Severing Says
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BERLIN, Feb. 10.—Minister of the Interior Carl Severing charges that Bavaria in violation of the constitution is distributing titles to the public while the Weimar constitution abolished titles. Every year Bavaria recompenses her deserving citizens with titles such as "Herr adviser of commerce," or "Herr adviser of economics." Herr Severing demands that this custom be stopped as prescribed by the constitution.

Even breast-feeding may not assure correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth

Of course the breast-fed baby has a great advantage over the bottle-fed. But even in the breast-fed baby the X-ray often shows little bones and teeth developing improperly.
A certain protective substance (Vitamin D) must be supplied if bones are to grow straight and strong; if teeth are to come in sound, even, and uncrowded.
There are two common sources of this protective factor. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil. Direct sunshine would keep your baby safe if he could get enough on his bare body. But clothing, clouds, fog and smoke make this impossible. Even ordinary window glass filters out the protecting rays—the ultra-violet rays.
Physicians urge the use of Bottled Sunshine—cod-liver oil—as the dependable way to assure correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth.

And thousands of them insist upon one particular kind—Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer it because laboratory tests show it to be very rich in two essentials.
In Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which is necessary to build strong bones and sound teeth, and in Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to infections.
Your physician knows he can depend on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil because it is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected. Insist on Squibb's. All reliable drug stores have both Plain and Mint-flavored.

It's Not Catarrh!

That stuffy feeling in the head—that discharge of mucus into the throat—symptoms of catarrh, you call them. You are wrong! They mean Sinus Trouble, of which catarrh itself is only a symptom.

It's Sinus Trouble

The right treatment is drainage. Help the nasal sinuses free themselves of toxic secretions, by washing the nasal cavities with SinuSeptic. Give the sinuses a chance. The relief is wonderful! Get SinuSeptic at any drug store.

More and Better Service

Twenty new cars costing approximately one million dollars are being added this month to the Illinois Central electric service. This is one of many improvements made in this service.

Since electrification the number of trains operated has been increased 40 per cent, and the number of seats provided for passengers has been increased 70 per cent. Schedules have been greatly speeded up, and they are maintained with clock-like precision. The comfort as well as the convenience of passengers has been provided for. Cars are clean, well-lighted and well-ventilated—warm in winter, cool in summer. And the courtesy of Illinois Central employees is far famed.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

BUSINESS LEADER ATTACKS CLOSED BRIDGE PROGRAM

Would Cripple Chicago's Shipping, Hettler Says.

With the city council debating the advisability of tightening regulations for keeping the Chicago river bridges closed in the daytime, Herman H. Hettler, lumberman and former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, yesterday gave the shippers' viewpoint on the question.

"These fees to water transportation," is Mr. Hettler's description of proponents of closed bridges between the hours of 6 a. m. and 10 p. m. He declared that the tremendous loss from delay in street transportation due to open bridges is as nothing compared with the saving from using water rather than truck and rail transport for freight movement. The argument is based on his conclusion that closed bridges between 6 a. m. and 10 p. m. would be the equivalent of keeping the bridges closed all the time.

Argues for Water Transport.
"Chicago owes its development as a world metropolis to its location at the head of navigable water," said the statement by Mr. Hettler, who is a member of the manufacturers' association's advisory committee. "There is a tendency to overlook this factor, as indicated by agitation for regulations that would be very burdensome to water carriers and which eventually would compel them to abandon their service to Chicago."

"The withdrawal of the competitive influence of water transportation would have a serious effect on Chicago shipping interests, as they would not only lose the benefit of the lower rates by the lake, but the rail differential rates would also be substantially increased."

See $1,200,000 Loss Yearly.

"Chicago's receivers and shippers' annual freight bill covering movement by lake and differential rail would exceed $12,000,000. The differential under the standard rail rates averages about 10 per cent, first class, which would mean a loss of about $1,200,000 annually to the shippers of Chicago if the lake service were withdrawn, as the lower rail rates would remain only during the winter period from December until April."

"Opposed to this large sum is an estimate that open bridges are now costing citizens approximately $200,000 annually as a result of delays to vehicular traffic. Has it ever occurred to those who are advocating permanently closed bridges how much loss to vehicular traffic would be sustained by Chicago by the congestion that would result from closing or greatly curtailing the use of the Chicago river to lake vessels? If this freight were thrown on the streets in trucks an almost impossible situation would develop."

Points to Waterway Plans.

"How can we have an Illinois waterway without navigation on the Chicago river? Recently I attended a meeting in the council chambers. A group appeared very enthusiastic when a picture of the proposed Calumet harbor was displayed. This would evidently be used as an exchange point for delivery of outgoing and incoming freight from great lakes points. "But we cannot be made dependent for local transportation on this harbor twenty miles away. Therefore, it is of the utmost importance that the Chicago river should be considered as the natural harbor for the distribution of freight, incoming and outgoing, where it can move directly from its source to its destination."

Overcome in Bathtub

by Fumes of Gas Heater
Carl Louquist, 29 years old, 1817 Berwyn avenue, was revived by Rogers Park police, who applied artificial respiration for an hour yesterday after he was overcome by fumes from a gas heater in the bathroom of his home. The gas heater burned up the oxygen in the room and Louquist was found unconscious in the tub by neighbors. He is at the Swedish Covenant hospital in a serious condition.

"My Skin Was All Broken Out"

"I was so ashamed of my pimply and blotched skin that I felt like covering my face every time I met folks. It wasn't until I tried Rowles Menlo Sulphur that I got any hope. Just three or four applications cleared my skin wonderfully. Sulphur is a remarkable thing for clearing the skin, and as Sulphur clears it, menthol heals the sore, broken tissue. This necessary twofold action is what you get in Rowles Menlo Sulphur. Long-standing cases of skin troubles are often cleared up in two or three days' time. Even a very severe case yields to this marvelous combination. It brings instant relief from itching and smarting. Your druggist has Rowles Menlo Sulphur in jars ready to use. Mail coupon with 10c (coin or stamps) for liberal sample."

Husband Had 7 Detectives Trail Her, Divorcee Says

RENO, Nev., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—Details of an attempted "airplane kidnapping" and the expenditure of thousands in the fruitless effort of a millionaire to halt by a personal interview the legal action of his wife, came to light today in connection with the divorce just obtained by the wife of Jack T. Cosman, New York stock operator and manufacturer of film supplies.

Charges that Mrs. Cosman had fallen into the hands of unscrupulous divorce merchants, who took advantage of a temporary nervous condition and virtually held her prisoner until the divorce action was completed, were made by the wealthy New York divorcee during his siege on the closely guarded Reno apartment of his wife.

Cosman made no attempt to answer the charges of cruelty on which the former Bronxville, N. Y., matron secured her decree. He declared that he had been advised by his attorney, Max D. Steiner of New York, not to recognize the divorce as binding in law or fact.

The court's decision gave Mrs. Cosman the right to resume her maiden name. Her manuscript for a novel, "Doors," dealing with her life in New York and Hollywood, has been sent to New York publishers.

Sign Separation Pact.
The Cosmans, who were married 15 years ago, maintained homes in Bronxville, N. Y., and Hollywood, Cal. Papers brought out that three years ago the Cosmans signed a separation agreement but that the wife later returned to live with her husband.

Last September, Mrs. Cosman left New York for San Francisco and charges that her husband employed seven private detectives to trail her to her Reno apartment. A battle then began between the private operatives of Mrs. Cosman to prevent Cosman from entering her apartment when he arrived in Reno. According to the statement of A. K. McAvoy, one of Mrs. Cosman's detectives, he [McAvoy] was kidnapped, rushed to a waiting airplane and taken, a prisoner, to New York by Cosman's men.

Mrs. Cosman's counsel charged today that McAvoy had been paid to accompany the husband to New York to attempt to identify Reno attorneys who were attempting to regain jewelry claimed by the suing wife.

Phone Call Cost $1,100.
Representative of Mrs. Cosman also charged today that Cosman had offered $10,000 to his wife's attorney, LeRoy Ellis, to advise his wife to drop the suit.

Cosman also established a new Reno record for a telephone call when he paid $1,100 to discuss the affair with his New York counsel and detectives. Opposing attorneys also charged that at one time Cosman, with his private detectives, broke into the home of the lawyer, Ellis, in his search for Mrs. Cosman and badly frightened the attorney's mother.

Kegel Invoites Rawlings to Be His First Assistant

Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, director of the state department of public health under Gov. Len Small, has been invited to return to the Chicago health department as first assistant commissioner, it was announced yesterday by Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegel. Dr. Rawlings became a medical inspector for the Chicago department in 1899. He was first assistant inspector from 1904 to 1921, when he began his tenure as state health officer. He will confer with Commissioner Kegel this week in regard to the offered appointment.

Divorcee Tries Suicide by Gas, but Is Revived

Mrs. Gertrude Ott, 28 years old, 6237 Kimbark avenue, a divorcee, attempted suicide in her home last night by turning on the gas. A roomer in the house smelled escaping gas and discovered the woman lying unconscious on the bed. A pulmonologist revived her. She was dependent, police said, over her divorce.

The sign of a truly MODERN APARTMENT

LOOK for the General Electric Refrigerator sign when you're renting an apartment. For this refrigerator, the latest development of the General Electric Research Laboratories, is an outstanding contribution to the comfort, economy and health of the modern home.

Today every truly modern apartment should have its individual, portable General Electric Refrigerator. Its operation is not in any way dependent upon the janitor or upon any other installation in the same building. You can place it where you will, move it where you will. You can simply turn it off by the pressing of a switch, if you should plan to be away from home for any length of time. Otherwise, it operates without any thought from you. You never even have to oil it!

The unique construction of the General Electric Refrigerator has actually done away with all annoying sounds. It has made it possible to enclose all the machinery—together with a permanent supply of metal protecting oil—in an hermetically sealed steel casing. This is mounted on top of the refrigerator, leaving the cabinet free for greatest food storage space.

If you are renting an apartment, you will wish to enjoy the modern refrigeration that makes housekeeping lighter, entertaining easier, that safeguards health and provides an ample supply of ice cubes. You can have this perfect refrigeration, wherever you find the General Electric Refrigerator sign.

See this "years ahead" refrigerator at our display rooms—open evenings.

STATE SCHOOLS TERMED BAR TO CLASS EDUCATION

Illinois U. President Points to Their Service.

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special].—As a bar to "class education" and an aid to the policy of higher education for as large a number as possible, state supported universities stand as the bulwarks protecting the future of our democracy. President David Kinley of the University of Illinois said today in discussing the necessity of a high, yet democratic educational standard for Illinois.

"The public schools, the state supported colleges and universities of our country, were established and have been continued in order to give equal freedom of educational opportunity to all," Dr. Kinley said.

"The very purpose of these state universities is to provide against class education."

Keeping Road Open

"The main principle underlying their administration has been and is to keep an open road to the higher levels of education for as many as could walk that road."

"Long ago they learned that genius and talent do not belong to any class based upon wealth or social position. The only difference they recognize are differences due to ability and to a desire to achieve."

"Their purpose is not to educate as few as possible, but as many as possible."

"Much has been written about educating leaders but we cannot select leaders in advance of their development of the powers of leadership.

Development of Leaders.
"We cannot pick the great business man of twenty years from now from the young men of 19 and 20 in college, although some profess to be able to do so. It has been said that some, if not most, of the successful business and professional men in our cities are drawn from the country."

"It is out of the great mass that leaders emerge, not by pre-selection but by strenuous effort to avail themselves of the opportunities for advancement, through education."

"A successful democracy must have a minimum general level of education. Our publicly supported schools exist because of the belief of our people that the public welfare is best promoted, not only by providing free and equal education opportunities for all, but also by raising as rapidly as it can the minimum level of education for the great mass of citizens."

PRINCE DENIES HE SEEKS TO WIN BACK HIS EX-WIFE

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—[AP].—The sudden appearance here today of Prince Sudd Bey Chakir, grandson of the late sultan of Turkey, resulted in reports that he was about to induce the Princess Chakir, former Kansas university girl, to return with him to his palace on the shores of the Bosphorus, but this was promptly denied by the prince.

The Princess Chakir recently regained her American citizenship. She left her Turkish husband several years ago, refusing to live with him.

The princess, young widow of the late John D. Spreckels Jr., son of the sugar magnate, married the prince in Paris after her husband was killed in an automobile accident in California.

Hungry Birds Consume 8,000 Loaves of Bread

Myriads of half-starved birds swarmed over the forest preserve districts yesterday devouring 8,000 loaves of bread distributed at strategic points by squads of Boy Scouts under the direction of Ransom Kennicott, chief forester, and of his brother, Walter Kennicott, head of the state chapter of the Izaak Walton league. Unusually severe weather, making it difficult for the feathered folk to find enough to eat, was the reason for the scattering of the bread. Close to 4,000,000 birds make their winter home in the forest preserve districts, according to naturalists.

There are no bargains in health

To safeguard precious health and preserve your teeth, avail yourself of the best skill and knowledge of dental science. It is economy. It is the only reasonably sure means of preventing disease that attacks neglected gums, thus ravaging the system, robbing youth, and often causing loss of teeth. This disease is the more serious for only dental care can stem its advance once it is contracted.

See your dentist at least every six months.

Brush your teeth regularly. But don't forget that teeth are only as healthy as the gums. So brush gums vigorously, morning and night, with the dentifrice made for the purpose, Forhan's for the Gums. It helps to keep them firm and sound.

After you have used Forhan's for a few days you'll notice a vast improvement in the way your gums look and feel—firmer, sounder—thus strong enough to resist disease. Also you'll find that Forhan's cleans teeth and helps to protect them from decay.

There are no bargains in health. Get a tube of Forhan's from your druggist and start using it today.

No. 13 of a Series on 'Metropolitan Chicago —showing why Metropolitan Chicago has every possibility of becoming the world's foremost metropolitan center—in population as well as in trade importance—and that in a day relatively near. Leading authorities predict fifteen million population for Metropolitan Chicago within a lifetime.

CHICAGO'S HEALTH IS PART OF HER WEALTH

VITAL statistics rank Chicago among the healthiest of all large cities.

Situated on Lake Michigan, Chicago enjoys an unlimited supply of pure, fresh water. Intakes are located far out in the lake where the water's purity is but little affected by storm disturbances.

Beyond this precaution, Chicago keeps its water supply safe through a series of safeguards unequalled in any other city. Chlorination of every drop is an important factor.

Through a great system of sewers and pumping stations the waste from 442 square miles of 'Metropolitan Chicago is drawn to modern treatment plants and there scientifically purified.

Even the Chicago river was turned backward in its course and made to flow away from the lake instead of toward it, that the purity of our drinking water might be further assured.

As a result of these measures, Chicago's typhoid death rate is the lowest of any city in America having more than 500,000 population.

The Departments of Health of the City of Chicago and surrounding communities—and other health organizations—have played an important part in helping Chicago attain its high standard of health. Not the least of their accomplishments is the systematic dissemination of information on the proper care of health.

But Chicago has not confined health protection to preventive measures alone. In Metropolitan Chicago there are nearly 50,000 acres of city parks and natural forest preserves where people may enjoy healthful recreation. Within Chicago, nearly nine million dollars are expended annually for upkeep and development of parks, playgrounds and public bathing beaches.

Forest preserves in Metropolitan Chicago, comprising more than 33,000 acres, afforded recreation to nine and one-half million visitors in 1928. As population closes in around the forest preserves, these great tracts will always remain as natural playgrounds for the people of Metropolitan Chicago.

The wealth of Metropolitan Chicago is commonly measured in terms of industrial and commercial greatness. But in its health, Chicago possesses another and a vital form of wealth.

Chicago's growth is not one-sided, but is well rounded and solidly grounded. Its health standard—resulting from wise provisions for the promotion and safeguarding of health—is contributing definitely to Chicago's present and future.

Milestones in Chicago's Health Progress

1876—Dept. of Health of City of Chicago founded.
1900—Drainage canal opened.
1907—Smoke abatement ordinance passed.
1909—Pasteurization of milk instituted.
1912—Chlorination of water started.
1916—Complete chlorination of water accomplished.
1922—Calumet-Sag channel opened.

This series on Metropolitan Chicago, when completed, will be bound in booklet form. Address Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, 72 W. Adams St., Chicago, and a copy will be reserved for you. There will be no charge.

HOMELESS SLEEP BY THOUSANDS ON LONDON STONES

Destitute Men and Women Line Thames.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Feb. 19.—Where do the homeless sleep? There are 3,700,000 unemployed registered and receiving the dole, most of them able to pay for shelter. But how about the 10,000 who have failed for one reason or another to be granted this relief, or the 6,000 actors and actresses out of work, whose profession bars them from being allowed the dole? They are for the most part without homes. But they have certain places to sleep. There are rendezvous of the unsheltered known to them all. We can find them sleeping in their chosen corners, if we make a night circuit of London.

We start from Marble Arch—at that corner of Hyde Park famed for its craters. The great iron gates clang to at midnight. With the closing of the park, clusters gather on the stone copings of the fence. They may dose off for a half hour, but no longer. When a bobby comes along, the hand of the law is employed to shake a sleepy shoulder. It is not against the law to rest here, but it is not permitted to sleep.

Find Haven in Trucks.
We pass north along Baywater road, where benches are placed at intervals. Each bench contains several figures, men and women, with hanging heads, catching a few winks between visits of the police. At Paddington station a number of empty covered trucks are drawn up. Here are the aristocracy of the night sleepers. Inside the trucks, shielded from the view of the police, they sleep the night through. The few who know of this paradise keep the knowledge to themselves. It is too good to share. We might find other sleepers if we continued to Hampstead Heath, but it is too far to go. For this reason there are fewer vagrants there, but because it is unpolluted and too large to fence, some wanderers toil out there to brave the cold winds that sweep across this high open wood at the top of London and snatch an interrupted nap.

The Night Bus.
Instead, we take the 94 bus, which runs all night from Finsbury to Haymarket. You will find many old Londoners who will deny stoutly the existence of any such all-night service. But the nightbirds know of it, though they have seldom the two pennies necessary to take the trip we are making now. At Haymarket we find one or two old women curled up on the steps of His Majesty's theater, where for some unexplained reason only old women seem to sleep.

Then we pass to Trafalgar square, where, under the cold eye of Nelson, men are sleeping on the cold stone under the Victory monument, in the shade of the National museum. Those who were able to find them are using newspaper posters to lie on, in order to mitigate a little the coldness and hardness of the stone. In summer these same posters serve early in the mornings in Hyde Park and Green Park, when the gates are opened at five, as protection against the dew for night birds who still feel the need for forty winks after the sun has risen.

In Underground Crypt.
In Trafalgar square also is St. Martin's in the Fields, with its underground crypt open nightly (except Sundays, when services are held there). To enter, one kneels at the side door. There are two women of the Women's Auxiliary Police association on guard. If they are satisfied that the visitor has not already spent the two nights he may stay there during a single month in the crypt, he is admitted. The pews are taken early; but he may roll up on the unheated stone floor, where men are allotted one side and women the other, until five in the summer or six in the winter, when the crypt is cleared.

Not far from Trafalgar square, near the Tivoli moving picture theater on the Strand, are the Adelphi arches, and in the shelter of the buildings pierced by passages to the river we will find both men and women asleep. Continuing in the same direction brings us to the famous Embankment. Here we will find sleeping figures all the way from the houses of parliament at Westminster to Blackfriars bridge.

We would see the same thing, if we were following the river on the other side, along the Albert embankment. There are several coffee stalls along the embankment; and it is no uncommon sight to see some knight errant of the poor give his fortune of two pennies to a woman to allow her to buy a cup of coffee instead of asking for one for himself.

Though Fleet street, where newspaper presses hum all night, is always busy, we may find an occasional sleeper huddled under an archway leading into an old court like the two almost opposite the office of Mrs. Tansworth. Fleet street leads us to Drury lane, and one of the favorite shelters of the poor for under the great porch of the Drury Lane theater, where the American play, "Show Boat," draws crowds of well-dressed men and women earlier in the evening, there is protection for many derelicts of the night.

Not far from here is Covent Garden, where the market fills the streets with the bustle of business all night long. Undisturbed by the clamor, slumbers lie on the King street side of the market under the shelter of its roof, while a few of the luckier ones, who have had enough money to buy a cup of coffee in the all night café near the market, sleep with their heads in their arms on the table, waked at five minute intervals, by the café porter.

Postal Clerks Back Two

Bills Pending in House
Postoffice clerks all over the country are agitating for favorable action on two bills which have been submitted to the house in Washington, according to a statement last night by Sol Cohen, president of Local No. 1, National Federation of Post Office Clerks. The one, if enacted, will give postal employees a 44 hour week and the other will increase the maximum retirement pension from $1,000 to $1,500 a year.

For the Thoughtful Valentine

"Delmar" Chiffon Hose $4.95

This is just the kind of cobwebby Hose you wait to have given to you! It is like mist itself in the sheer 57 gauge—and is especially lovely in these new tones—

Duetone—a sun-burn shade

Turf-Tan—a warm sun color

Bouton-de-Rose—a pale tint for evening

"Delmar" Chiffon Hose $3.95

These Hose, too, are delicately beautiful in a fine 51 gauge—and easily win their way to any frivolous person's heart. These three shades are smart:

Beech Tan—a medium street shade

Elephant's Hide—a new street color

Peach Mauve—a tint for evening as lovely as its name
HOSIERY—FIRST FLOOR

For the Practical Valentine

Gloves of French Kid $4.75

—And though we start by being practical, their outstanding quality is really their smart adaptability to any costume. Of fine Imported Kid, they are plain except for the swag of their turn-back Cuffs, in contrasting shade.

HARDWARE LINE Salesman

One of our clients, an old established manufacturer of roller skates, wants the best available salesman for Chicago territory. He must be experienced in hardware line, of good standing and acquainted among hardware retailers and jobbers; preferably a man with a car. If he knows roller skates from actual sales experience in this line, he will be better qualified to sell. Write for personal interview.

Greek Prince,
French Princess Marry in Sicily

Civil Ceremony Is Held Before Titled Throng.

Christopher of Greece, husband of the late Mrs. William B. Leeds, and Princess Françoise were united in the civil bands of matrimony by the podesta of Palermo at 8 o'clock this evening. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of a royal and princely throng. The palace was where the Duke of Orleans, predecessor of the bride's father as claimant of the French crown, died in 1835. The religious ceremony was followed by a dinner, with more than 160 covers, at which gathered more royalty and blue blood of Europe than has been seen assembled since the wedding of the bride's younger sister, Anne, to the duke of Apulia at Naples on Nov. 5, 1927.

The bride was given away by her father, the Duke of Guise, "her of the kings who in a thousand years must kneel to his royalist supporters proclaim him.

The distinguished company included former Queen Amelia of Portugal, Infanta Isabella of Greece, mother of the bridegroom, former Queen Elizabeth of Greece, Prince Nicholas of Greece, the Princesses Marguerite, Theodora, and Irene of Greece, sisters of Christopher; Princess Mother Helen of Romania, mother of the young King Michael; Infanta Isabella of Spain; Prince Knud of Denmark, Prince and Princess Vigo of Denmark, Prince Paul and Princess Olga of Yugoslavia,

The party had been lodged in the Orleans villa and the larger Palermo hotels for some time. There had been a constant interchange of receptions and dinners with the Sicilian nobility.

Owing to the recent death of the young mother of Spain and the subsequent mourning decrees by King Victor Emmanuel, the party for tonight and tomorrow were considerably curtailed. The projected procession from the Orleans villa to the Palatine Chapel was called off and the party left for the Hotel de Ville.

The religious ceremony will be celebrated by Monseignor Corbelli, Apostolic the Palatine chapter. Thereafter the party will return to the palace for a wedding breakfast. The couple, after a protracted honeymoon, will return to Rome and live in the palace of Queen Mother Olga.

Efforts of the ecclesiastical authorities to dislocate the ceremony from the Great National movement were unavailing. The bride was recipient of gifts from monarchical leaders, together with an album containing thousands of signatures of sympathizers of the cause of the pretender. The Emperor, the Emperor and the White flag of the House of Habsburg [Bourbon] were displayed together outside the palace.

Miss Virginia Dare Carter
Is to Wed R. S. Reynolds
New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Announcement of the engagement of Miss Virginia Dare Carter, to Russell L. Reynolds of Greenwich, Conn., was made tonight by Frank Chase Carter of this city and Atlanta, Ga., at a dinner given by Frank Vanderlip at his Fifth Avenue home. Miss Carter is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Frank Carter of Atlanta, Ga. and through her mother is a direct descendant of George Washington. The bridegroom is Samuel Chase, a signer of the Declaration of Independence for Maryland.

$225,000 at Climax Today

The climax of a campaign directed by Chicago business men to help Boy Scouts come today with a noon and mass meeting at the hotel La Salle, as well as 7 district meetings tonight. State Attorney William A. Donovan will be guest speaker at the luncheon. More than 15,000 of the proposed $225,000 budget has been raised.

"THE DOCTOR'S SECRET"

REVELATION in Entertainment

It is the first ALL-STAR, ALL-TALKING picture, the first dramatic masterpiece to be presented with a cast of the best stage stars. Magnificent acting fascinates your eyes, resonant voices thrill your ears. The players seem actually on the stage, not on the screen. Every minute of this ALL-DIALOGUE picture is a moment of unforgettable power. Also, on the same program is an immense stage show of bewildering beauty.

Gilbey Saga at St. Moritz Finds Its Echo

BY THALIA

Three fascinating picture papers that showed in England and France, with views of Lady Dootiey sunning herself on the Lido sands, Baroness von something at the races and equally evocative illustrations, have been graced of late with several likenesses of Mrs. Quentin Gilbey, the former Betty Hall, who lives in London.

She and "Quincy" had a great time at St. Moritz, from whence they returned to London just recently. Mrs. Gilbey, who sprained an ankle badly last winter while skiing, forewent that hazardous sport, but covered herself with glory at ice skating, winning the first prize in the gymkhana, and the Gilbeys carried off first honors at the busy dress ball.

Mrs. Gilbey were a Chinese bride attendant's costume of red, with an elaborate headpiece and many shimmering mirrors dispersed over the ensemble. Her mother, Mrs. Otto Fisher Hall, had found the replica in China. And Mrs. Gilbey went as her attendant.

And that isn't all there is about the Gilbeys, either. Quincy has just published a book, de luxe binding and all, the subject having something to do with the history of racing. The Gilbeys write to Mrs. Gilbey's parents that their autographed copy is arriving soon. Dr. and Mrs. Hall are moving this week into their new apartment at Astor and Banks streets.

Coming near the end of a winter reprieve with spectacular and ingenious entertainments, the rollicking "hard times" party staged by three society matrons last Saturday night in the bungalow on the Hotel Sherman roof must needs shatter the popular belief that the season of large and gay parties knows any official time limit. The invitations were anonymous and the identity of the trio of hostesses was successfully kept a mystery until the appointed hour of arrival, when the guests learned that Mrs. Wallace F. Kirk, Mrs. Philip Edgington, and Mrs. Orville Babcock were the instigators of the affair.

Most of the guests appeared in appropriate costumes of the realm of the sword and the calico. They dined and danced on the new glass enclosed terrace adjoining the bungalow on the roof. Clusters of leaves hung from the walls and the long table was covered with a red and white checked gingham cloth. Decorations consisted for the most part of large red and white balloons which floated from the ceiling, and the long table was covered with a red and white checked gingham cloth. Mrs. Charles Granville Le Forgue, who returned last week from a three months' sojourn in the west, is to take charge of the spring hat sale at the White Elephant Rummage shop on Wednesday. Members of the Junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital, for which the rummage shop is run, are in charge of the sale, and include Miss Edith Louise Newcomet, Miss Louise Brewer, Miss Roberta Harvey, Mrs. Harry B. Macdonald, Mrs. Howard Bartling, Mrs. William M. Davis, Mrs. Milton Morse, Mrs. M. McLeod Phillips, Mrs. A. F. Madlener, Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, Mrs. George W. Johnson, Miss Helen Gurley, and Miss Dorothy Cox. Mrs. Le Forgue is chairman of the auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. James Offield of 1400 Astor street left yesterday for pleasant western travel. They got off the train at Las Vegas, N. M., and plan to drive all through New Mexico and Arizona, seeing places and things they have visited before, then on to San Diego and then to Catalina Island to spend a fortnight with Mrs. Offield's mother, Mrs. William Wrigley Jr.

Miss Betty Offield's spring vacation from Mount Vernon academy begins March 17, as her parents plan to go across the continent, picking up their son, Wrigley, who is at school here, on their way, and the whole family will make a sojourn at Virginia Hot Springs.

Hoovers Will Attend Edison's Birthday Celebration Today

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 10.—(AP)—President Elect Herbert Hoover to-night was on his way by the yacht Saunterer to the 82d birthday celebration of Thomas A. Edison, to be observed here tomorrow.

Mr. Hoover is not expected to disembark at the Edison estate here until shortly before noon tomorrow for his participation in Mr. Edison's birthday fête. Accompanying him were Mrs. Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rice, and Jeremiah Milbank, eastern treasurer of the Republican national committee and owner of the yacht, and Herbert Hoover Jr.

The latter boarded the Saunterer at Everglades, below Naples, this morning, after he had completed his journey from Washington to Miami, and then advanced by automobile over the Tamiami Trail to Everglades. He had flown from Washington to Atlanta, but abandoned his airplane there because of unfavorable weather and proceeded to Miami by train.

Bishop C. P. Anderson Goes to Florida for His Health

Bishop Charles P. Anderson of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, having left Chicago Saturday for Florida, expects to be gone at least a month but possibly three months, he said. This enforced vacation is the first relaxation from official duties which the bishop has taken during the winter months. Each summer he goes to his lodge in northern Wisconsin, but throughout the winter months he has remained in Chicago. Bishop Anderson's physicians some time ago advised a leave of absence that he might seek relief from the multitude of official duties. Mrs. Anderson is accompanying the bishop to Jacksonville, Fla. There a new automobile awaits him for future motor trips.

PREACHER LAUDS DARWIN IN SERMON AS FRIEND OF MAN

Science in itself neither is a friend nor foe to religion, but science used through religion to lift man up to higher spheres, in the opinion of the Rev. Walter Cole, he is pastor of the Third Unitarian church, 5521 West Lake street, and yesterday held memorial services for Charles Darwin, whose 129th birthday anniversary is tomorrow.

"True religion is a search for a satisfying life, the realization of values, interest, and noble enthusiasms in a good world," the Rev. Mr. Cole continued. "Because Darwin succeeded in giving us his evidence of evolution he has enabled religion to find a place in man's existence."

Dr. Cole said the contribution of great men to religion is twofold—character and lasting achievement. "Darwin, because of his patience, curiosity, humanity, courage, modesty, ability to stand the fire of abuse, and his generous spirit, made his life a distinct contribution to religion in addition to the contribution of his scientific achievements," the minister said.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—President and Mrs. Coolidge have had as their guest for a week Mrs. R. B. Hills, intimate friend and neighbor of theirs in Northampton, Mass. She went yesterday to the Willard to remain for some time.

Mrs. Coolidge was the guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday at the home of Mrs. R. B. Hills, wife of secretary of state, where other guests included the other cabinet members. A week ago Mrs. Coolidge gave a similar luncheon with Mrs. Kellogg, wife of secretary of state, as guest of honor and the cabinet members as the other guests. These luncheons are a new feature in the official circle and are a part of the personal parties of the little group who have been associated together for some years.

McCormick Gift of Y. W. C. A. Hotel Is Officially Opened

Chicagoans were permitted to inspect the new Y. W. C. A. hotel at 1000 North Dearborn yesterday, and several thousand attended the formal opening of the 11-story structure, given by Cyrus Hall McCormick, dedicated to the late Harriet Hammond, McCormick.

Although the hours set for the "open house" were between four and seven, people began dropping in at 11 o'clock in the morning and there were many callers last evening. The 75 girls already registered for permanent residence in the hotel acted as guides, showing the living rooms, the library with shelves soon to be filled with books, the study rooms, fudge kitchen, recreation hall and sun room.

Unwitting Robber.

One night, after one o'clock, I was hurrying along the street. I was walking quickly, with my head down, when I suddenly bumped into another man. I was a bit alarmed and suspicious, and reached into my pocket to see if my watch was still with me. It was gone!

"Give me that watch!" I growled. The man handed it over and I put it in my pocket with satisfaction. Imagine my embarrassment when I got to my room and found my own watch lying there on the smoking stand!

It's Better to Laud than to Criticize— Better for Yourself

BY DORIS BLAKE.

One of the lines of advice usually offered young men who inquire about how to make a hit with a girl is not to spend the evening talking about the rare charms of other girls. The idea being, of course, that it is sweeter music to a girl's ears to hear her own charms extolled.

It seems, though, young men will go on committing this common indiscretion and girls keep on complaining when they're not inquiring how one should greet such occasions.

Mrs. B. H., who noted a query from a perplexed young thing, admits to a different color. There are blue, green, canary yellow, and rose, as well as mahogany, oak, and walnut bedroom sets.

Two, Mrs. B. H. thinks it advisable for a girl to introduce herself into the conversation and praise them, especially women the man happens to know. She thinks this is one way of rousing man's interest in you, yourself. He will think you free from cat-

BY WALLY JOY BROWN.

Invidious SALLY A. CHASE BOARD.

"Has one of your readers a pocket chess board which he has no further use for? I am confined to my bed with tuberculosis and a board of that kind would be nice to have."

Some chess fans may have a traveling board and set of men he would like to donate to just such a case. A game like this would be sure to make the hours fly for the inmate of this sanitarium.

Conversation as it is practiced by most of us does evolve around the people known to us, so that to expect a man to evade the topic of women is perhaps to expect a little too much of him. I doubt if women do object to it when it is done in the usual glib manner of conversation. What they object to is strictly akin to the thing men do not enjoy, either—the introduction of and dwelling on other girls or men's names with the intent to stress the speaker's great popularity with the opposite sex.

Certainly it is better to laud than to criticize. It is better to join in the halcyon than to sing a discordant solo. Better for the reputation of your own disposition. Claws were always better concealed from sight, no matter how justified one might feel in rapping up a rival character.

Admirers Crowd Orchestra Hall for Rachmaninoff BY HAZEL MOORE.

Pianists may come and pianists go, but the potent allure of the name of Rachmaninoff remains. Whether he chooses to appear in the Auditorium or, as yesterday, in Orchestra hall, the story is the same—all seats in the theater and on the stage occupied. Just space enough is retained for the piano and the eloquent Rachmaninoff.

In this recital he chose to lead his followers along exceedingly well worn paths of piano literature, thus providing the student round table with subject matter for discussion as to the Rachmaninoff version of such and such a passage. So yesterday he reviewed the Mount Sonata No. 14, those in D minor and C major by Scarlatti, the inevitable Schumann "Carnaval" and three of the most used of Chopin's output, namely, the "Nocturne," "Vals," and "Ballade," all to overwhelming applause.

The song recital of Abbie Mitchell, colored soprano at Kimball hall, discovered a lyric voice of unusual beauty and wide range used with an evidently instinctive musical taste throughout what could be heard of her well arranged program.

Smartest Women Abroad? They Are the Business Gals

The appearance requirements of your up to date business woman are reflected in the recent observations of Dr. Paul Nystrom and Anna Parrish before the style show recently held in New York.

According to our two noted authorities, if you want to find the smartest looking, most chic, altogether best dressed women abroad in the daytime you do not look for them in the exclusive restaurants patronized by the rich, but in the simpler places where business women foregather in numbers. In fact, they named a popular chain of restaurants patronized largely by business women and operated in connection with candy stores.

The patron of the select and high priced restaurant might be more correctly clad, but rarely more correctly than the successful business woman, the authorities pronounced. They stressed the pure economic principle that the business woman to consider her clothes in relation to her success. There is no gaudy display of the fact that success is based in no small share on a smart appearance.

It's long since passed the argumentative stage. The effect on the business woman who knows that all is right with herself was not overlooked by our two observers. Knowledge that her dress is the right color, her coat a smart cut, her hat the right shape, and shoes, bag, and stockings in perfect harmony gives her that sense of security and assurance that, in turn, increases the impression of efficiency.

To watch these young business women was suggested as a lesson in style. When watching, we'd like to add as a lesson in physical smartness to give them the once over, too. If the successful business woman is aware of the value of clothes, she is even more aware of the value of keeping her personal self up to the highest level of smartness.

ONE FARRELL WINS WESTERN SKATING TITLE

CONGER UPSETS BALLYHOO FOR NORMI AND WIDE

Victory Over Finn Unexpected.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, Feb. 10.—Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C. has upset the ballyhoo of a race between Paavo Nurmi, the Finn, and Edwin Wide, the Swede, which was to have been the Dempsey-Tunney event of the indoor amateur track and field season.

Running from scratch, Conger tore past Nurmi in the last lap of an eleven lap mile in the Millrose games at the Garden and beat him by eight yards, going away, although his time was five and two-fifths seconds behind Nurmi's old record for the mile indoors.

Thus are champions sometimes hit on the chin while engaged in the apparently harmless business of taking scores.

To be sure, R. M. Conger has a respectable reputation as an American middle distance runner, but American middle distance runners have not been very important since Nurmi's first trip to this country, four years ago.

Bubble of Wealth Bursts.
No candid announcement was made because it does not pay to be candid about such things, but I believe the amateur track and field promoters regarded Nurmi's field as a sucker field in this mile and looked forward to a subsequent race between Paavo and Edwin at two miles with rich expectations. The victory over the native runners would serve to stimulate the ballyhoo, and finally, when Paavo and Edwin jogged on the boards at the Y. M. C. A. games or the Finnish-American meet in March, there would be a large attendance and gate receipts in proportion.

The time of Conger's mile, 4 minutes 17 1/2 seconds, was such that Nurmi was made to look somewhat like Thomas Heeney on the occasion when James Lawless and James J. P. Braddock, his sparring partners, militated vigorously against the financial success of the Tunney-Heeney production in the Yankee stadium a few days later. In the same way the defeat of Paavo Nurmi by Ray Conger in a mile run five seconds away from Nurmi's old record will affect the business done on the night when Paavo and Edwin run their two mile race if they should run at all.

Nurmi and Wide could have run their two mile race in the Millrose games for both of them were entered. But like the leading prize fighters in the heavyweight elimination tournament, the boys seemed to be saving the show down for a date when the buildup had been properly attended to. Wide ran in the two mile race and made good in his assignment but the ballyhoo faded when Conger drew up with a spring in the last two laps, overcoming Nurmi's lead of three yards and passing him for an eight yard lead of his own.

Dempsey Feared Upset.
Jack Dempsey, in his preparations for the Strubling-Sharkey prize fight at Miami Beach was wary of something on the order of the Nurmi-Conger episode. He objected stoutly to Sharkey's fulfillment of his recent date with K. O. Christner of Akron for fear that Christner would tap Sharkey on the chin. He even objected to Strubling's fighting an old artillery sergeant by the name of Jack League on the ground that League might tap William on the chin.

As a matter of fact, Jack League did fit a swing, probably the first punch he was landed on the last four years, and clipped William's jaw, sending him down for a few seconds. A few seconds more would have ruined Dempsey's production. Although the punch merely would have confirmed the well known fact that they all tumble when they are hit just so, yet a tap on William's chin would have been completely at naught all the tape which William has delivered on some sixty-five or seventy chins in various parts of the country.

The ballyhoo is a delicate thing.

Lien's Skill Wins Ski Meet at Palos Park

Harry Lien of the Norge Ski club of Chicago won first place in the Palos Park ski meet yesterday afternoon with 17,650 points. Lien clinched honors with his first jump of 136 feet, a new record for the Palos park slide.

Earl Aaker of the Ogden Dunes club leaped 146 feet but fell at the finish. Carl Nielsen, a clubmate of Lien, received 16.8 for second honors and A. Sletner, another member of the same organization, ranked third with 15.9. An estimated crowd of 20,000 saw the meet.

Roy Mikkelsen brought further honors to the Norge club by winning first prize in the class B competition. He jumped 135 feet and was given 18.200 points. George Gundersen, riding for the Racine club, received 17.913 for second position, and R. Quinnes, another Norge entrant, came third with 17.013.

TIES WORLD RECORD
Westby, Wis., Feb. 10.—(AP)—With a world's record tied and nearly broken here this afternoon, Anders Haugen, Ogden Dunes, Chicago, former national champion, made jumps of 174 and 181 feet to take first place in class A of the seventh annual Westby ski tournament. He scored 18.34 points.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.

Chunky Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth football player, whose flying tackle dislodged Strangler Lewis from the heavyweight wrestling throne, says he had one big idea in mind right now.

"And that," says he, "is to make a some money."

"I got into this wrestling game because I talked too much one night at a wrestling show. But I won the world's championship by hard work, and I mean to keep it long enough to build up a bank account."

"After I left Dartmouth," Sonnenberg continues, "I began playing professional football. [He is an all star tackle.] About a year ago I went to a wrestling match in Providence, R. I., principally to see a former college champ. The show, like a great many wrestling shows, was terrible. A half dozen big fellows wallowed around, tugged and hauled, and it looked like a fake to me. I began talking loudly enough for folks all around the ring to hear."

"These guys are palookas," I observed. "I could throw the bums myself."

"The customers laughed and the promoter got sore. 'If you'll wrestle any one of them, I'll put you on next week,' he snarled. 'I guess you were bluffing.'"

"Bluffing, hell, I said. Get your bum. I'll make him quit faking."

DETROIT BOWLER HAS 236 MARGIN ON AD CARLSON

Joe Scribner of Detroit totaled 236 more pins than Ad Carlson in the fifth block of their 90 game inter-city bowling match last night on the Randolph alleys and increased his total lead for the 54 games to 745 pins.

Carlson totaled 2,093 in last night's block. He had an average of 309 and a high game of 324. Scribner, upset 1,238 for an average of 223 and rolled 258 for his high count.

"A lot of the practices of the wrestling game are the bunk," Carlson said. "But the customers have been to blame. In any number of my bouts I've tossed the other fellow in two or three minutes. Almost every time the fans have booed me and shouted 'fakes.'"

"There's been some talk about the illegality of my tackle. That's the bunk, too. Wrestlers have been using that same hold for years. I just hit harder than they do. After I hit 'em I use the old orthodox holds to pin 'em."

Sonnenberg weighs 365, is short in stature, but has the shoulders of a giant.

He ought to do well; he uses his great hand. And my wrestling career was on.

"Well, I kept on using the flying tackle and the Providence wrestling ring tried to get me knocked off. I was hurting the old game's business. Folks liked the action I gave them and booed the old fashioned stalling. Promoters began pitting me against tougher and tougher fellows and finally the fans in Boston clamored for a match with Lewis."

Illinois Boxers Will Vie for Golden Gloves

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Tyros of today frequently are the champions of tomorrow.

That's almost axiomatic in boxing.

Fans down at the University of Illinois predict that two Illinois entrants in the Golden Gloves tournament will prove it.

Illinois will be unofficially represented in the Golden Gloves tournament by two Illinois entrants in the Golden Gloves tournament.

According to Instructor Perry, his two boxers are training hard in the Illinois gymnasium. They will compete unattached.

Class Run by Prehn.
At Illinois each boxing class is a trial ground for pet theories of Paul Prehn, former Illinois instructor who now is chairman of the Illinois boxing commission and president of the National Boxing association.

Tommy White, who handles the amateur boxing shows at Dreamland, Van Buren and Paulina streets, will determine the makeup of his team after tonight's fight at Paddy Harmon's arena. It will be Tommy White and Pete unattached.

Elgin, Ill., Feb. 10.—(Special.)—CHICAGO TRIBUNE Silver Skates winners, led by Opal A. A.

Farrell of the Opal A. A. Eddie Murphy of the Barrett A. C., and Elisabeth Du Bois of the Opal A. A. captured the honors in the western outdoor skating championships here today. Nearly 18,000 lined the banks of the north lagoon of Lord's park for the races.

Although Farrell, senior Silver Skates winner in 1925, easily won the men's western championship, and Helen Bina skated off with the women's title, the brilliant performance of Elisabeth Du Bois, victor in the recent women's Silver Skated Derby, in the championship half mile, was the feature of the program.

Miss Du Bois breaks record.
Miss Du Bois won the half mile race in 1:39 2-5, breaking her own western mark of 1:42. This was the only record broken by the champion.

In winning the men's championship Farrell took first place in all three title races and piled up 90 points. He placed first in the 440, mile, and two mile events. Second place went to Art Peters of the Barrett A. C. with 40 points. Eddie Murphy, winner of the last men's senior Silver Skates classic, was third with 30.

Others breaking into the men's championship scoring table were Frank McDonough, Bob Howe, and Ray Wanders, all of the Amphion A. C. Each scored 10 points.

Miss Bina's victory in the women's championship marked the first time that a playground representative has won the title. She was skating under the colors of the Le Moyne playground of Chicago.

Miss Bina scores 40 points.
The women's championship was decided only after a three way duel in which Miss Bina scored 40 points, Miss Du Bois and Miss Lois Littlejohn, both of the Opal A. A., scored 30. Marie Pierce of the Barrett A. C. had 20.

Art Conroy, intermediate silver skates winner, was the class of the skaters in his division.

The races, sponsored by the Elgin Skating club under supervision of the Western Skating association, provided the Opal A. A. with another team championship. The west side organization collected 240 points to nose out the Barrett A. C. by 30 points. Summaries:

Hagelmann 3 1 265 40 10-13 22 4-40

With four matches yet to be played, three of them involving the trio of contenders, the championship still hangs in the balance. Matsuyama, the little Japanese sensation of the tournament, of course holds a decided advantage, even though he still must play Cochran tomorrow night and Schaefer probably on Tuesday night.

Cochran Must Play Schaefer.
In addition to these two matches, Cochran and Schaefer yet must play each other, and that's another break for Matsuyama. The fourth match will pit Hagelmann and Hagelmann against one another.

Hagelmann virtually lost his last chance to retain the title when he bowed to Schaefer, 400 to 271, last night in a match enlivened by a protest, launched by the Belgian against Referee Albert Cutler. The standing Player. W.L.B.R. H.A. O.A.

FEAR OF LOSSES HERE, ABROAD BOOSTS WHEAT

While Other Factors Inspire Bears.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

With fears of serious crop losses in winter wheat in the United States, combined with similar reports from Europe and larger import requirements by Europe and non-European countries, the world's wheat situation is entirely different from that in any other period.

There are sufficient bearish conditions to encourage extensive short selling, also bulges and other factors which tend to encourage some operations on the part of other speculators.
The latter was apparent in Chicago last week with commission houses accumulating May at around 1.24 1/2 @ 1.27. At the same time bulge above 1.24 1/2 @ 1.27 brought in selling orders.

Latest reports from Russia indicate famine conditions in some sections and if all reports are to be believed the situation there is the worst ever known as regards food supplies with prospects for the coming crop uncertain. It is a situation that is called paradoxical by close observers.

There is famine in China and liberal quantities of wheat are being moved from the Pacific coast to that country, Japan, India and probably to Russia, although the latter country is expected to take a great deal of Argentine wheat. It is also said that there are parts of South Africa short of supplies.

Grains recently back from Europe, after making extensive investigations, are said to be bullish on wheat. This is considered especially significant, as Liverpool prices continue decidedly below a shipping basis from America. May wheat there last Saturday closed at 1.35 1/2 as against 1.27 1/2 @ 1.27 in Chicago and 1.29 @
1.29 1/2 in Winnipeg.

Pressure of Cash Wheat.

The other side of the picture presents an entirely different situation.
Supplies in North America are the largest known, although somewhat smaller than thirty days ago. There is sufficient surplus in these exporting countries to provide all requirements of importers abroad and leave a fair sized surplus at the end of the season.

To have such a situation provides material for basing purchases as to the future values and the feeling is more friendly on the whole, although the volume of speculation has decreased and sales in Chicago for the last week were 142,446,000 bu., compared with 210,480,000 bu. the previous week and 190,275,000 bu. last year, the last week's decrease being unusual and despite the reduction the open interest in May wheat at the close of business on Friday was 48,106,000 bu., as compared with 55,952,000 bu. a week ago.
The open interest in March decreased 500,000 bu. for the week and in July was 24,514,000 bu., as compared with 22,450,000 bu. last year.

May wheat had a range of 2 1/2 % for the week, and futures closed 1/2 % lower, with March 1.24 1/2; May,
1.27 1/2 @ 1.27 1/2; July, 1.29 1/2 @ 1.29 1/2.

Cash Corn Weakens

Weakness in cash corn relative to May, combined with a lighter outside interest and expectations of a larger movement from the country which is usual at this time, has created a more mixed situation as regards the market position of leading speculators.
Sales for future delivery in Chicago last week of 85,557,000 bu. compared with 142,446,000 bu. the previous week and 142,446,000 bu. last year, the decline in the interest in corn. At the same time the open interest in May corn at the close on Friday was 54,744,000 bu. compared with 53,204,000 bu. the previous week. For the present the disposition is to sell corn on bulges in expectation of larger receipts depressing values.

March corn closed Saturday at 94 1/2; May, 95 1/2 @ 95 1/2, and July,

Full Interest in Oats

In the oats market breaks supporting orders from commission houses, and bulges, selling orders by cash interests. Moderate quantities of No. 3 whites are being moved from private to public elevators, but there are practically no No. 2 oats in store available for delivery on future contracts at present. The country, however, is sending in a few more good cots.

The range of prices for the week was practically 1c, with the close on March 51 1/2 @ 51 1/2, May 52 1/2 @ 52 1/2,

Tightness in March Rye.
March rye was bought presumably on local and eastern orders and sold by local speculators, evincing a tight position. Foreigners were credited with buying through the seaboard but the market did not respond to any great extent although there were sales on near deliveries of 1/2 @ 1/2, and a loss of 1/2 @ 1/2 on the distant, with March, 51 1/2 @ 51 1/2, May, 51 1/2 @ 51 1/2, and July, 51 1/2 @ 51 1/2.

LARD STOCKS INCREASING

With more lard being received at Chicago from other packing centers than is being shipped out, combined with the make by local packers, stocks are evidently piling up materially and the semi-monthly stock reports due
Feb. 15 should show unusual supplies.

This, however, has not materially affected speculative buying on breaks as the close on Saturday was at nearly the highest of the week, with net gains of 2 1/2 @ 2 1/2 on March and July, and a loss of 2 1/2 @ 2 1/2 on May. Prices are 1c lb higher than a year ago, and there are good supplies of hogs coming.

Bullies were bought liberally at times and there were also periods of increased offerings, with the finish at around the top, with net gains of 2 1/2 @ 2 1/2, while short ribs were unchanged to 7 1/2 @ 7 1/2.

Hog prices have advanced sharply, despite large receipts which possibly has encouraged some buying of produce. Prices follow:

Freight loadings of the Pennsylvania railroad system in the week ended Feb. 2 totaled 149,008 cars, against 148,077 the preceding week, and 142,544 in the corresponding week, 1928. The January total was 712,184, against 674,929, in the same 1928 period.

PAYS $42,500,000 FOR ARGENTINA POWER RIGHTS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Feb. 10.—The American and Foreign Power company, a subsidiary of the Electric Bond and Share company, has made its entry into the public utility industry of Argentina through an agreement just concluded with the Atlas Light and Power company, Ltd., of England for the purchase of all that company's holdings in electric supply and traction companies operating in Argentina.

The purchase price of $42,500,000 ($42,500,000) is payable by installments in cash, according to the report and in addition the sum of $850,- 000 ($4,250,000) has been paid as a deposit to cover the revenue balance.
The Atlas company has public utility holdings in Uruguay, apart from investments of a general character in South America, but its holdings outside of Argentina will be retained.

British manufacturers will receive preference for at least ten years for the bulk of orders for equipment for the operating companies transferred to the American and Foreign Power company, according to one of the terms of the purchase agreement.
Until this transaction was effected American and Foreign Power was interested chiefly in public utilities in Brazil, Cuba, Panama, Chile, Mexico, Colombia, Guatemala, Ecuador and Venezuela.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Chicago and Northwestern railway handled 35,565 revenue freight cars in the first seven days of February, against 35,468 in the same period of 1928. Ore loadings are not included in these figures.

During January there was an average daily movement of 24,651 freight cars on the Chesapeake and Ohio. This total consisted of 19,498 loads and 15,- 165 empties and exceeded last January's record by 2,871 cars, when the total was 22,390. In January, there was an aggregate of 24,743 revenue loads received from connections.

The Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis handled 9,413 cars in the first week of February, the largest week in its history, compared with 52,316 cars in the same period last year.

THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE
BERLINER HANDELS-GESELLSCHAFT, Co-Trustee

The following is summarized in part from the letter of Messrs. Fickler and Meissner, Managing Directors of Harpen Bergbau-Aktion-Gesellschaft:

Harpen Mining Corporation, founded in 1856, is the largest independent enterprise in Germany devoted to the production of coal and its by-products, and the manufacture of coke and briquettes. Its properties are located in the Ruhr district, which is the largest producing coal field in Europe and which produces coal of a quality superior to that produced anywhere else on the European continent.

The Corporation's coal reserves consist of more than 37,000 acres of coal lands. There are many seams, and reserves estimated to contain 529,000,000 metric tons (2,204.6 pounds) above the lowest level of present mining operations. Estimated reserves above the depth of 1,500 meters (3,281 feet) total 3,700,000,000 metric tons. The properties of the Corporation include 9 by-product coke plants, including the most modern and efficient in Germany, the largest benzol refining plant in Germany, a tar refining plant and a plant for manufacturing briquettes.

The Bonds will be secured by mortgages, subject only to the charges securing $5,861,310 of Industrial Debentures, on the operating properties (as defined in the Indenture) of the Corporation and its Constituent Company, Gewerkschaft Victoria zu Linen. Ranking pari passu with these Bonds are $1,156,905, principal amount, of 7% Convertible Reichsmark Debentures of the Corporation.

The net earnings of the Corporation, after operating expenses, maintenance, renewals, replacements and taxes (other than taxes based on income) but before depreciation, depletion, Industrial Debenture charges and bond interest charges, amounted to $5,071,160 for the year 1926, $4,998,352 for the year 1927 and $1,919,447 for the first six months of 1928. The corresponding net earnings after depreciation, as charged, were as follows: 1926, $2,537,961; 1927, $2,562,027; 1928 (six months) $796,805. The annual interest charges on the present issue and on the 7% Convertible Debentures, respectively, and the present annual fixed charges on the Industrial Debentures aggregate $1,002,412.

The pro forma consolidated balance sheet of the Corporation and its subsidiary companies, adjusted to give effect to the present financing, shows current assets of more than 2.2 times current liabilities even after allowing for $4,520,476 of the proceeds of this issue which may be invested in fixed assets. Mr. Howard N. Eaveson, American consulting engineer, who has examined the properties, estimates the reproduction value of the plant, discounted for present conditions, without allowing for the value of any coal in the ground, at not less than $60,000,000.

Each Bond will carry a Stock Purchase Warrant, non-detachable before July 1, 1929, entitling the holder to purchase after July 1, 1929, and on or before April 30, 1932, for each $100, principal amount, of such Bond, either one "American Share", to be issued against the deposit in Berlin of 100 Reichsmark (approximately equivalent to $23.81), par value, of Common Stock of the Corporation or, at his option, 100 Reichsmark, par value, of the Common Stock itself, fully paid and non-assessable; provided, that such Common Stock will be purchasable only in multiples of 1,000 Reichsmark, par value. The price to be paid for each "American Share" will be $36, and for the Common Stock, $36 for each 100 Reichsmark, par value, thereof. The Stock Purchase Warrants will be void after April 30, 1932.

The legality of this issue will be subject to approval of our Counsel, Messrs. Shawman & Sterling, New York City, and Dr. Ernst Wolf, Berlin. We offer these Bonds if, and when issued to and received by us, and subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that delivery in temporary form will be made on or about March 1, 1929.

Price 90 and accrued interest, to yield 6.93%

A substantial portion of this issue is being taken in the European market, including $2,500,000 which is being loaned publicly by Hope and Company, Amsterdam.

TRAFFIC OF 'L' LINES SMALLER THAN IN 1927

Least Travel Shown Since 1923.

BY O. A. MATHER.

As the result of an increase in fares at the middle of last year, the Chicago Rapid Transit company, which operates the Chicago elevated lines, carried the fewest passengers since 1923. Earnings also were lower than in 1927, although the straight 10 cent fare produced a sharp increase in the latter half of the year.

"The number of revenue passengers carried during the year was 207,844,235, a decrease of 15,347,934 from the previous year," President Britton I. Budd says in his annual report, issued last night. It was expected the increase in fares would cause some loss in passengers, although increasing revenue. A material falling off in traffic, however, compared with the previous year, was noticeable before the increased rates went into effect, due largely to conditions of employment.

"The loss in passengers attributable to the increased fares is traceable largely to the elimination of the sale of weekly passes. The revenue per passenger averaged only 5 1/2 cents and they represented about 15 per cent of the total carried, or about 33,000,000 rides a year. Under the new rates the fares on the entire system average 10 cents a ride, compared with 8 1/2 cents under the old rates.

Effect on Revenue.

"The effect of the new fares on revenue is shown in the statement that for the first six months and fourteen days of the year under the former rates, the net income was $25,423 and for the last five months and fourteen days under the new rates the net income was $66,590." Net income for 1928 was $642,312. Dividends totaling $488,484 were paid on the $5,000,000 prior preferred stock and $152,829 was carried to surplus, which now stands at $1,128,338. Accumulated interest on the $18,563,000 adjustment debentures now amounts to $2,341,340. Total assets as of Dec. 31, 1928, were $104,273,027, of which $94,355,923 represent road and equipment. Net income for 1927 was $516,958.

Chain Stores Grow.

Continued expansion in the chain store field gave the Jewel Tea company larger sales and profits last year. The company increased its units from 1,096 to 1,121 and plans a higher rate of expansion this year. Average sales per customer increased and average sales per operating unit were the highest in the company's history.

Total sales for 1928 were $15,970,892, an increase of $1,438,856 over 1927. Net profit was $1,530,888, equivalent after preferred dividends $11.55 a share on 120,000 shares of no par common stock. Dividends totaling $5 a share were paid on the common stock, good will was reduced from $120,000 to $1 and premiums of $639,371 were charged against the retirement of the $2,560,000 preferred stock. The company sold an additional 40,000 shares of common stock to stockholders in January at $100 a share, the proceeds to be used in retiring the preferred stock and adding working capital.

Although half of all automobiles are sold on time payments, the finance companies which take care of the bulk of such sales incur almost negligible losses. This is shown in the annual report of the Commercial Credit company, issued last night. On Dec. 31, 1928, the company had $75,525,514 of motor retail paper outstanding, of which only $79,809 was over two months past due on the original terms of sale. It also had only 298 repossessed cars, valued at $97,999 after depreciation, and $416,342 in notes covering 1,115 repossessed cars sold to dealers.

Net income for 1928 was $4,122,391, equivalent after preferred dividends to $4.01 a share on an average of 691,407 no-par common shares outstanding during the year. Net income for 1927 was $2,067,888, or $1.05 a share.

Chicagoans Look for More Trade with South Americans

BY SCRUTATOR.

There is a growing consciousness that the expansion of the commercial empire of Chicago and the middle west will be in the Caribbean and the further reaches of Latin America. Geography and projects for better and cheaper transportation point to this conclusion. A straight line from Chicago to the mouth of the Mississippi and carried on across the Gulf of Mexico would pass near Panama. Already this line is available for shipments by rail and water. Two years hence, with an all water route from the lakes, the advantages that nature gave this trading center will be intensified.

Realization of the possibilities in the southern market is growing. A Chicago banker in a recent speech called attention to them. The Illinois Central railroad has issued a booklet describing how the Latin-American commerce looms larger in our calculations for the future.

Figures Tell Story.

Figures, perhaps, tell the story of the relationships of American business with Latin America better than words alone.

Investors in the United States have a larger share of their capital in South and Central America than in any other geographical division. The International Acceptance bank in November estimated that more than five billions of American money was in securities of the southern countries. In all Europe investments of Americans were put at four and a third billions and in Canada at less than four billions.

Something like 20 per cent of our exports, which in 1928 totaled more than five billion dollars, according to the department of commerce, went to Latin Americans and more than a third of their total sales were to this country.

The Latin American trade has in its favor, as against European, that most of the exports are of manufactured goods, while the goods we receive are of tropical character. Outgoing materials have furnished a maximum of work for the efficient labor of American factories and the incoming products are in general those which it is impracticable to manufacture or grow in the temperate zone. They are also noncompetitive. Iron and steel in the shape of bars, sheets, rails, and pipe, etc., not counting the more highly fabricated articles, were absorbed to the extent of 600,000 tons south of the Rio Grande in 1927. The Illinois Central's annual report stated that 75 million dollars' worth of automobiles were sold in the Latin American countries in the same year, with 98 per cent of them American made. Argentina and Brazil bought 9 million barrels of petroleum products in the same period.

Some Exports.

Wheat and wheat flour, characteristic products of the Mississippi valley and the great plains, sold to forty million dollars to the Latins. To go with the flour in the biscuits were twenty-five million dollars' worth of lard from our packing houses. Canada, only, purchased more agricultural machinery in the United States than the southern neighbors in 1927.

All indications point to the midwest as being alive to the opportunities for service and profit in Latin America. The Mississippi and the new waterway to it furnish a great highway which when developed will make Chicago nearer by hundreds of miles to the countries down to Panama than it is now by rail to New York and then by ship.

Rail facilities already give this advantage. South American trade has been talked of for decades. Now it is more than a vague picture in the middle west. A few more years and it seems destined to be something like a masterpiece.

PROFITS OF COKE COMPANY SHOW MATERIAL GAIN

Net income of the By-Products Coke company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1928, totaled $1,354,121 after charges, expenses and taxes, according to the annual statement. This is equivalent to $7.13 a share on the 189,936 shares of no par common stock outstanding. In 1927 net was $1,030,228, or $5.68 a share, after preferred dividends. The preferred stock was retired in 1927. Profit and loss surplus at the end of last year stood at $2,544,716, compared with $2,855,216 at the close of the preceding year. Current assets and liabilities stood at $5,455,999 and $1,369,618, against $6,701,242 and $1,933,472, respectively.

516 Trade Groups Pick

Chicago as Headquarters

As an indication of Chicago's growing importance as a commercial and industrial center, the Chicago Association of Commerce announced last night that no less than 516 outstanding groups have chosen this city for their headquarters. Of these 558 are national, 55 state and 132 local bodies. This recognition is also said to be having a marked effect on the increasing number of national conventions being held here. In 1928 more than 800 conventions were staged in the city, while this year the number is expected to approach the 900 mark.

BUSINESS FEELS STIR OF SPRING, WIRES REPORT

Midwest Feature in Trade News.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—While credit conditions loomed large in the business picture last week as a result of the federal reserve board's strictures against speculation, the most favorable reports on industrial and commercial activities continued to come from virtually all sections of the country. The basic industries such as steel and automobile manufacturing increased their production, and construction stepped along at a faster pace in several important sections.

Touch on Expansion

Telegraphic advices from the various federal reserve centers touched on the expansion in activity that is taking place in preparation for a brisk spring selling season. Estimates of the January production of automobiles, exclusive of Ford plants, indicate that the factories have been operating at a pace 15 per cent greater than that of this time last year, and most of the big companies are arranging for further expansion.

Steel operation is on a large scale, the United States Steel corporation working at 86 per cent of capacity. Steel tonnage for January showed an increase of 122,000 tons over December. Wholesale and jobbing reports from most parts of the country reported that merchandise was moving into distribution in good volume and carloadings are on a satisfactory scale.

Throughout New England business conditions are generally satisfactory with pronounced activity in a few lines, notably in the manufacture of machine tools and brass goods and in shoe production.

In Middle West

Throughout the middle west favorable activity both wholesale and retail, was reported, with particularly good reports coming in of retail automobile sales. A summary of conditions in Pennsylvania emphasized the improved showing by the building construction industry. Factories are being enlarged and public works are being contracted more freely. In the south and the far west conditions are generally satisfactory.

Continued advances in the price of copper were regarded as a constructive development and companies in that country were operating on a large scale.

Browns Keep Business Pep from 1890's

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

When several daring bicycle and carriage makers astounded business of America by jumping into the manufacture of the horseless carriage during the gay '90's, they were stamped with a brand labeled "radical" or "lunatic."

Most of them had a hard time getting credit to carry on their experiments, particularly when it came to asking the astute banker of that day who usually was a pillar of conservatism, for a loan. Today the automobile industry is the largest in the United States. The amount of money tied up in the various phases of the automotive industry is counted in billions of dollars.

Handwriting on Wall.

It was no less daring in 1908 when John B. Brown, son of the founder of the John W. Brown Manufacturing company of Columbus, O., maker of carriage lamps, recognized the handwriting on the wall and went in for the exclusive manufacture of lamps for automobiles.

The Brown concern was organized in 1890 with a capitalization of $50,000, of which $20,000 was subscribed, paid in, and issued. The Browns, father and son, had just retired from the Columbus Rubber company, which they had started in 1880. In their new venture they manufactured stove pipe elbows, oil cans, and other miscellaneous articles. The making of carriage lamps was started in 1891.

The automobile lamp business proved to be bigger and more profitable than was expected, and soon the company devoted all of its facilities to the production of the new product. Today the company is the oldest manufacturer in the lamp industry and one of the largest in the world. Its manufacturing floor space is 188,000 square feet.

The company's stock was recently listed on the Chicago exchange and

U. S. STEEL GIVES OUT REPORT ON FILLED, UNFILLED, TONNAGE

New York, Feb. 10.—The United States Steel corporation reports that its unfilled tonnage, as of Jan. 31, amounted to 4,109,487, an increase of 122,775 tons as compared with Dec. 31.

The increase compares with an increase of 383,713 tons in December over the total as of Nov. 30. During November the unfilled tonnage fell off 78,039 tons. The total as of Jan. 31 compared with 4,275,947 tons on Jan. 30, 1928, a decrease of 166,460.

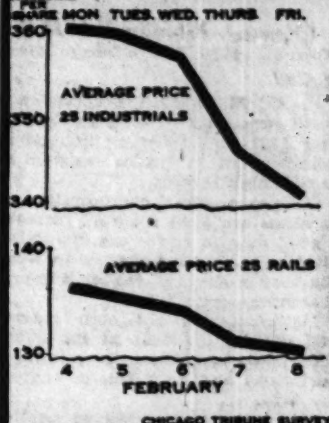

The January unfilled steel tonnage was not quite up to expectations. Month-end adjustments, said to have totaled more than 75,000 tons, brought down the gain. The orders on hand, however, are sufficient to keep the corporation operating at a high rate for the next four months.

Shipments in January approximated 1,175,000 to 1,200,000 tons, against 1,050,000 in December, 1,150,000 in November, and 1,250,000 tons in October. January was the best month for freight car buying since December, 1927. Automobile manufacturers also have been placing large steel orders. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company is increasing the capacity of its open hearth steel plant at Chicago. Inland Steel company and Interstate Iron and Steel company also are strengthening their position in the Chicago district with improvements.

prior to that time was traded in on the Detroit and New York curb exchanges. Last fall the capitalization was increased from 75,000 to 100,000 shares of $10 par value stock. The earnings statement for the first half of 1928 showed net of $20,510, or $4.27 a share on the old stock. This compares with $86,828, or $11.6 a share in the same period of 1927.

During 1928 the stock sold from a low of 8 to 40% on the Detroit exchange. Its last closing price on the Chicago market was 50.

Effect Upon Stock Prices of the Federal Reserve Board Warning Is Charted

REDUCTIONS IN UTILITY RATES SAVE MILLIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Rate reductions amounting to $4,820,000 annually in savings to customers of the subsidiary and affiliated companies of the Standard Gas and Electric company were effected or announced during 1928, including reductions affecting practically all classes of service—residential, commercial, rural and industrial uses of electricity and some reductions in gas rates.

The largest reductions were those of the Duquesne Light company at Pittsburgh, annual savings of $700,000 to customers having been achieved through lower rates in 1928 and lower industrial schedules announced early this year giving an annual saving of $1,700,000 to customers in this class.

Northern States Power is saving its customers $1,000,000 annually, Oklahoma Gas and Electric $600,000.

WALL ST. GETS ANOTHER SWAT 'FOR ITS GOOD'

U. S. Board, British Bank Apply Slipper.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—To Wall street, last week was one of those not very frequent periods which erected what may be called financial landmarks. Long after November, 1919, the markets used to refer to "the change in reserve bank policy" as such a guide post; long after May, 1920, to "the Wamamaker cut in prices"; long after November, 1924, to the demarcation of two financial periods by "the Coolidge election."

There may or may not occur in the present instance such change of direction in the whole financial movement as followed these incidents, but the situation cannot remain in all respects the same. The fact that the reserve board's manifesto should have been issued almost simultaneously with the rise in the Bank of England rate to the highest figure in nearly eight years made the change in surrounding influences more emphatic.

Raid on Credit. This was particularly true, from the fact that both actions were inspired by an identical purpose—the absolute necessity of abating the frantic absorption of home and foreign credit by the speculative market. At home, this raid on all credit facilities in sight was directly reducing deposit funds of private banks available for commercial loans, and indirectly drawing reserve bank credit, contrary to the

CONTINENTAL NATIONAL BANK & TRUST COMPANY OF CHICAGO

A million dollar Bank—doing SMALL things BIG

What a Great Difference Just a Few Years Make!

Back in Bible times a fellow could borrow money if he pledged his jewels, or cattle, or gave a lien on his tent, but the fellow who had no property was out of luck.

Today it is different!

Today it is different—because the man without collateral has a bank—where he can borrow on his good name—The Morris Plan Bank—and where he can save, too.

Twelve years ago this banking home was established for the wage earner, salaried person, professional or business man who might need moderate sums of money to enable him the more effectively to run his family or his business.

Twelve years ago The Morris Plan started a "little" business—little did people think that there was a mighty big idea back of The Morris Plan—little did people think that within so short a time $60,000,000 would be loaned to over 250,000 people for the payment of taxes, home improvements, grouping of debts, and countless other emergencies. Little did people know how great and varied were the needs of the average American.

That day is gone when people ask, "What is The Morris Plan?" "Where is it?" "How does it work?" That day is gone when people say, "I have no bank." Everyone knows that The Morris Plan is a STATE BANK, directed by men who helped to build Chicago big, and who have surrounded Industrial Banking with simplicity, safety and dignity.

You'll have none of that "dreadful feeling" when borrowing on The Morris Plan. You may pledge collateral if you have it, but you may also borrow on your reputation and character—you may secure your loan with just two signatures of friends who believe in you, and who know that you will do what you say you will do—and if anything beats our instalment repayment plan, we have not discovered it yet.
